Increases in Joint Agency Budgets Will Up Each Municipality's Tax Bill

Midway through last Saturday's joint budget session with members of Township Committee and Borough Council, Township Mayor Winthrop S. Pike interjected a comment. "Perhaps it is time to remind everyone we've done nothing this morning but add to this budget."

Under review for the second straight Saturday morning work session were the budgets of the joint agencies of the Borough and Township. Many items that had been "flagged" the previous week for possible omission or alteration were reinstated — and in some instances even added to.

The Fire Department will be permitted to keep $10,000 from disconnecting no-longer-needed call boxes and to use the money for badly needed repair and maintenance of equipment. The Public Library will be open on Sundays, thanks in part to a municipal appropriation of $5,000 above the total amount recommended by the two municipal administrators. And the Sewer Operating Committee may hire a crew of three to perform I & I inspections and repairs to the sewer system.

These and other line items in the joint agencies budgets will make themselves felt in the overall operating budget of each municipality, although in differing ratios. According to Township Administrator James Pascale, the Township budget, estimated last week to be some $8,000 over the five percent CAP, will either be $17,000 over that CAP figure, or $40,000 below a 6.5 percent CAP.

Borough Will Draft New Ordinance To Aid Low-Income Housing Here

A "Mt. Laurel" ordinance requiring a developer to set aside a percentage of houses for lower-income families to buy; setting up a trust fund and providing incentives for lower-income housing has been assigned to Borough attorney Walter Bliss for development and drafting.

Mr. Bliss' assignment from Mayor Barbara Sigmund and Council came after a meeting last Wednesday when Mr. Bliss outlined the possibilities for such an ordinance, and Borough citizens expressed their views. Another meeting will be held Wednesday, February 29 at 8 in Borough Hall.

A key question is whether such an ordinance can legally be retroactive. Mayor Sigmund has been pressing Collins to provide lower-income units in its Hulfish North plans and two of the four appeals to Council from Planning Board approval of those plans are related to this issue.

Mr. Bliss reminded Council and audience Wednesday night that the Land Use law guarantees certain rights to a developer at certain stages in the approval process. Conflict arises, he explained, when this law comes up against a constitutional requirement.

"If Council decides that constitutionality substantially outweighs the Land Use ordinance, then a retroactive ordinance is feasible," Mr. Bliss said.

Gary Green, Collins vice-president, was in the audience but did not comment.

Mayor Sigmund pointed out that Princeton, having shown its desire to provide such housing over the years, is in a better position than many towns and in fact is one of the three communities in Mercer County with a public housing authority.

State Decreases Aid to Schools

Princeton's schools will receive next year about two percent more in state aid — $26,377 — than this year, but $93,399 less than the state had indicated.

Two months ago, in November, Princeton was told the amount would be $1,239,523. In early January, the state increased that figure to $1,245,589. But then cuts were made and the most recent amount — but not necessarily the final amount because this is only the governor's budget and the legislature has not acted on it yet — is $1,152,190 — down $93,399.

Between the first and second figures, Princeton gained $6,000 and the budget was calculated on that amount. This means Princeton must find only $87,333.

"Will we take it out of taxes, reserves or programs?" asks board president Ann McGoldrick. "We don't know yet."

"There is very little cuttable in the budget," in the view of Superintendent Paul Houston. "We've been operating lean for some time. The great unknown is that we're negotiating with four of our five staff units, and of course salaries are the biggest piece of our budget."

State aid for special education, compensatory education, bilingual education and transportation has been cut, bilingual especially.

"You never know where they'll cut," remarked business administrator Judith Horner. "Last year, it was minimum aid."

Bilingual aid has been sliced from $43,633 to $28,986, she reported, a reduction of $14,647.

Special education has been cut by $13,000 and compensatory education by $1,200.

Under a 1983 revision of the CAP law, municipalities are given a choice of whether to use the minimum five percent figure or the percentage rate set forth in something called the Implicit Price Deflator for the preceding year. In 1984, that figure is 6.5 percent. Township Committee will meet this Saturday at 9:30 in the Valley Road Building meeting room to decide which CAP figure it will use and how it expects to pay for its share of the $1.2 million underbidding by the Stony Brook Regional Sewerage Authority.

Mayor Winthrop S. Pike estimates that there will be a 3.5 cent rise in the municipal tax rate in the Township, to say nothing of the increases expected in school and county taxes. He cites greatly increased solid waste trucking costs as one of the factors contributing to a bigger municipal operating budget. With the closing of the Bordentown landfill which has accepted solid waste from both Princetons, trucks will be carting compacted garbage and other debris to Pennsylvania.

At last Saturday's session, Township Committee agreed to fund a fire inspector at $3,000 on a trial basis. This amount is outside the caps and will be offset by fees charged for the inspections. Both governing bodies agreed to a fire consultant (in the capital budget) to assess the fire needs of both Borough and Township.

Money for fire police, a separate unit that handles traffic control during fires, was deferred, and it was agreed that fixing the sunken concrete apron in front of the Hook & Ladder Fire Co. should be capitalized. Firemen pointed out that the bucket of the big fire engine risks damage each time the truck is backed out because of the close clearance in the fire house and the differential between the sidewalk and the apron.

Library. Citing a history of municipal underfunding of the Public Library, Borough Committee John Huntoon made a lengthy pitch for an additional $35,000 for the Library. He pointed out that "although the total request may seem a lot, it costs a lot to run an excellent library." In the budget prepared by the two administrators, the Library was granted an 18 percent increase over what it received in 1983, but Mr. Huntoon felt that was not enough to cover the additional books, cassettes and other items the library needed.

Mayor Pike countered by asking, "Where do we get the additional $35,000? What account do we take it from?" Mr. Huntoon proposed deleting the professional planner at a savings of $17,500 for half a year, but other members of Committee and Council were firmly committed to having a planner. They voted additional monies for the Planning Board for supplies in anticipation of his services, at the same time subtracting from the funds for outside planning consultant services.

In addition to Sunday hours, the Library gained $10,000 for repairs and maintenance to the roof and windows but not $5,000 for replacement of a section of carpet not replaced last year.

Sewer Repair. Sanitary Engineer George Olexa made a pitch for in-house survey and repair of sewer lines by three men to be hired by the SOC. He said there had never been a progressive study made to define the problem on a continuing basis. The SOC staff was allowed to deplete by attrition after the Brokaw Report was completed, he said, and the new crew would be assembling valuable information about the system while also making some repairs as needed.

He estimated that in 18 months the crew would know the magnitude of the problem and whether it will cost $15 million or $30 million. Dwight O. North said that hiring three people "at the very least" was a sound proposition, but he added, "To think the problem can only be done in-house is perfectly ridiculous. We need a huge outside firm working hard to get this thing done." Mr. North also reiterated his call for a bond issue as "the only sensible way to address the job."

"I think these (governing) bodies are prepared to bite the bullet," Committeeman Richard Schoch told him. The consensus seemed to be that an outside contractor and in-house survey and repair work were not mutually exclusive, but that it was perhaps premature to bring on the outside consultant before some of the survey work was undertaken.

The discussion caused Councilman Richard Woodbridge to search his memory and come up with an old saying: "If you can't do everything at once, you ought to do one thing at once." It seemed particularly appropriate to all the Township and Borough budget deliberations.

RENT BOARD PROTESTS
Schmierer Recommendations. Relaxing certain zoning ordinances making it easier to create lower-income apartments is not the way to go, the Rent Registration Board told Borough Council last week.

The Board, in a majority report, was commenting on a series of proposals from former Borough attorney Edwin Schmierer in a memo to Council last fall. The 1983 Council had requested his comments on Borough compliance with the Mt. Laurel II housing requirements.

Sheila Cook, landlord representative on the rent board, said this week that she does not endorse the board's letter, and feels that Mr. Schmierer's recommendations are "well worth exploring" and have "built-in checks by various government bodies."

"The cost factor to the Borough is a primary consideration I feel we must address in increasing housing stocks," she said.

Relaxing some zoning laws would "dramatically increase" the population of the Borough, resulting in substandard housing and overcrowding unless the staff of the health department were enlarged, the letter stated.

The board also asked, "what happens to the displaced current tenant when one existing rental unit is converted to two?"

Mr. Schmierer had suggested that prospective tenants of lower-cost rental units might be required not to own a car, and the Rent Registration Board asks whether such a person might not have to choose between affordable housing and a commuter's job.

Both the income of tenants and their car-ownership status would have to be watched, and the resulting administrative burden would be heavy, the letter says, adding that almost all the lower-cost rental units would eventually bound back into the regular market.

"We already have unresolved problems with illegal apartments; need we create more?"

Whether the decision is for or against, the letter concludes, more information is needed. At the moment, however, the board thinks the proposal "an administrative mistake and not a viable contingency plan for meeting our Mt. Laurel obligations."

BEARSE WILL RUN

If ... The "if" in the candidacy of Borough Council member Peter Bearse for the Democratic Congressional nomination is whether Princeton ends up in the Fourth Congressional District.

This Friday is the deadline for New Jersey to come up with redistricting lines that satisfy the courts. If the state fails, the courts will redraw the lines.

If Princeton is indeed drawn into the fourth district, Mr. Bearse will go after the Democratic nomination; if it isn't, he'll run for a second term on Borough Council. Republican Christopher Smith now represents the fourth district. Mr. Bearse's primary opponents will be Jeffrey Laurenti and James Heden.

Fund-raiser Planned. Right now, he's running "as if" and will be given a fund-raising brunch ($25 per ticket) Sunday, February 12 at the home of Woody and Shirley Kauffman, 148 Library Place. Guest speaker will be Mel King, the black Massachusetts legislator who was the unsuccessful candidate for mayor of Boston last year. Mr. Bearse and Mr. King met several years ago when Mr. Bearse was in Boston on a community development project.

"He symbolizes my campaign," Mr. Bearse said, "uniting city and suburb, black and white."

Grace Brown Is Honored by Nassau Club

FORTY YEARS BEHIND THE BAR: Nassau Club members honored Grace Brown, bar tender extraordinary for 40 years of service at their annual meeting last Friday. N.T. Callaway, president of the Club, and Jim Carson, head bartender whose years of service exceed those of Grace by one year, spoke in tribute to Princeton's first full-time bartender.

One of the first—perhaps the years of cheerful service, first—and one of the very few female bartenders in N.T. Callaway, president of Princeton was honored last Friday night for 40 years of continuous service at the Nassau Club.

Grace Brown was presented a handsome plaque and a monetary gift at the annual meeting of members of the town and gown men's club. Paying tribute to her long loyalty and hard work was the church mortgage several years ago.

Jim paid tribute to his co-worker not only for her pleasant and gracious way with the club members but also for her contribution to the Princeton community and her numerous acts of love and kindness. Grace has been a treasurer of the Ladies Guild of First Baptist Church since its inception and a member and secretary for 15 years of the Elizabeth Byrd Fund.

Unable to attend college herself, she has a daughter who earned a college degree in marketing and is presently a flight attendant with Pan Am. Grace came to Princeton with her family as a little girl. She attended Princeton schools and graduated from Princeton High School. She is an active member of First Baptist Church and was instrumental in raising $200,000 to pay off make deals with each other but they're unable to find from their own ranks a candidate to beat an attractive Republican."

He emphasizes that this is no criticism of Walter Bliss, former Mercer County Democratic chairman and now Borough attorney. "Without Bliss, the party might have lost even more ground than it has."

Learned from Mary Perone, A Borough Democratic Committeeman for eight years, Mr. Bearse says he learned grass roots politics from Mary Perone (master-mind of the Sigmund mayoral campaign). "But I am not a straight, old-style organization Democrat."

Congressman Smith, a conservative Republican, has obtained support from unexpected quarters because of his vote against the MX missile, but Mr. Bearse shrugs this off: "Smith mixes up his votes so he can give the impression of meeting the needs of various groups. His weak spot is leadership. He's a one-issue candidate — 'right to life.' I supported the nuclear freeze resolution locally. His vote against MX doesn't mean a thing."

"Why am I running? My ego, I guess. And I want to be in a position to help as many as I can in areas where I feel I can do it better than the rest guy."

"And if the Democrats don't prevail against Smith, he may be in office a long time, and that would be very serious for the district."

—Katharine H. Bretnall

SHOPLIFTERS CHARGED: With Heroin Possession. Two Trenton residents first apprehended by police Monday and charged with shoplifting, were also charged later with possession of heroin. A third companion was also charged with heroin possession.

The same day, in a separate arrest, police charged another Trenton resident with possession of heroin.

Borough police were called at 11:15 Monday by Urken Supply Company, 27 Witherspoon Street, reporting that three shoplifters had been in the store. Ptl. William Nathan responded, was given a description of the suspects, and located them in the Tulane W parking lot.

$12,000 from Cabaret

Princeton High School's choir and orchestra will have another $12,000 toward their summer trip to Vienna as a result of Saturday night's two Inn Cabaret benefit performances.

"We expect to clear $12,000," is the way assistant principal Florence Burke puts it. The school must still pay for the rental of tables, chairs and Prince William Room of the Nassau Inn, printing bill and the bill for free champagne.

However, 13 business firms in the area contributed to the benefit making the $25 ticket completely tax free — and bills will be paid from their contributions.

The benefit was arranged by Reid White who has two children in the choir and who performed as a member of the Cabaret cast.

Contributing organizations were Colling Development, Advanced Vehicle Technology Inc., N.T. Callaway Real Estate; Clancy-Paul, the Princeton Computer Store; Commodities Corporation; Dana Productions; Freedman and Drucker; The Gallup Organization Inc.; The Hillier Group; Minute Press; Quindnet Capital Corporation; Tucker, Anthony and R.L. Day, Inc. and Station WHWH.

Police found in the possession of Robert Bynum, two travel irons taken from Urken's and valued at $19.98. From James Robinson, 30, they recovered three sets of Papermate pens valued at $25 each. Robinson allegedly told police he stole the pens because he needed the money.

While Ptl. Nathan was apprehending Bynum, Robinson was spotted by Det. Randy Sutton in a parked car with Lester Buchanan, 34, of Trenton, owner of the car. The Detective observed several packages of a white powder on the car's console. The powder turned out to be heroin.

All three were arrested, and all were later charged with possession of heroin, and Bynum and Robinson with shoplifting. All were released after being issued summonses calling for their appearance February 15 in Borough Court.

Suspicion Confirmed. The same day, Det. Sutton decided to run a warrant check on a suspicious car parked in the Palmer Square lot. The officer had become suspicious of two occupants inside the car.

The check revealed that the driver, Harold Magby, 35, of Trenton, was wanted by the city of Trenton for several motor vehicle violations. After a search of the car uncovered a small quantity of heroin concealed under some blankets of a baby carrier. Magby was arrested by Det. Sutton and Ptl. Ralph Terracciano and taken to headquarters. He was first held in $1,000 bail set by Borough Judge Russell W. Annich Jr. and later taken to the Mercer County Jail.

CAR HITS TWO HOUSES

When Driver Loses Control. A car which skidded out of control on Mt. Lucas Road early Sunday morning struck two houses before coming to rest.

The driver, Jean Harris, 50, 30 Greenbrier Row, told police that she lost control of her car on ice near the intersection of Laurel Road. It crossed over the center line, over the opposite lane, continued over the shoulder of the road and onto the front yard of a home at 2 Laurel Road.

The 1977 sedan knocked down some shrubs and 30 feet of fence on the property before sliding into the front yard of 6 Laurel where it flattened some more shrubbery and 20 more feet of fence, coming to rest after striking the house.

Ptl. John Seeley Jr. who found no ice on the roadway following the 5 a.m. mishap, charged Ms. Harris with careless driving and driving while on the revoked list. She was treated at Princeton Medical Center for lacerations of the head.

The following morning at 3:16, a car operated by Edward J. Dobkowski Jr. of Cherry Brook Drive left 234 feet of skid marks on Valley Road. It crossed the center line near Harris Road and continued onto the property of B.J. Greenspan, 76 Valley.

causing tree and lawn damage. Mr. Dobkowski told Ptl. David Funk that a car traveling in the opposite direction had come into his lane and caused him to lose control. He was issued a summons for careless driving.

Mr. Dobkowski was treated at the Medical Center for a minor head injury. Both contusions and abrasions of the face. A passenger, Sergio Gonzalez, 13 Tupelo Row, complained of back pains and was examined at the hospital.

An early victim of the Monday night snowfall was Kenneth J. Baum, 24, of Califon. As he was driving south on Route 206 between Arreton and Ewing Street at 7:47 Tuesday morning, his car skidded over the center line and struck a car operated by Gary E. Allison, 37, of Trenton.

Mr. Baum was charged by Sgt. Mario Musso with failing to keep right; Mr. Allison was treated at the Medical Center for a minor head injury. Both cars had to be towed from the scene.

TWO ARE CHARGED

With Drunken Driving. Township police charged two drivers last week with driving while intoxicated.

William T. Thomas, 48, of Route 1, Monmouth Junction, was stopped on Snowden Lane at 5:25 Saturday afternoon after he had been observed by Ptl. David Cromwell driving in an erratic manner on N. Harrison Street.

Mr. Thomas was tested at the scene, then taken to headquarters where he was given a Breathalyzer test, charged and released. He is scheduled to appear in Township court February 28.

Richard B. Schults, 41, 37 Woodlane Road, Lawrenceville, was charged as a result of a motor vehicle accident on Route 206 near Edgerstone Drive.

According to police, Mr. Schults was traveling on Stockton (Route 206 south) at 9:15 Sunday night when he lost control on the snow-covered surface and spun around 360 degrees. His car crossed over into the opposite lane where it struck a car operated by a Greenville, Pa. resident. Both cars were virtually stopped at impact and the two drivers came to Township police headquarters to report the mishap.

Capt. Jack Petrone reported that, as a result of Mr. Schults's personal appearance and behavior, he was given a Breathalyzer test and charged with driving while intoxicated by Ptl. Cromwell. He was later released pending his court appearance February 28.

TWO STORES ENTERED
In Princeton Shopping Center. Two stores in the Princeton Shopping Center were entered last week between 10:55 and 2:30 in the morning. In both, a glass pane in a main door had been broken to get inside, Township police reported.

Taken from one store was $50 from a cash register -- a second register with money in it was left untouched -- and $20 from a cash box under the main counter from another. The entries were discovered by Ptl. David Cromwell while making a check of the mall.

While the occupants were asleep, a house on Hun Road was entered early last week by an intruder who took a pocketbook containing a wallet with $20. The pocketbook and wallet were found the next morning minus the money in the driveway. Police said that entry was gained between 11:30 p.m. and 6:30 the next morning through an unlocked sliding glass door off a patio. Ptl. Howard Sweeney investigated.

TIGER SKULL STOLEN
From Cottage Club. A tiger skull mounted on sterling silver was stolen during the weekend from a display case in the library of the Cottage Club on Prospect Avenue.

Police said that the skull, measuring 12 to 14 inches in diameter has an appraised value of $1,200 to $1,800. It has the Princeton University ornately carved, raised campus. Police said that the designs on the outside, in-victoria was planning to take during the figure of an Oriental man on one side and to get a match for the other

Grossman Decides "No"

Allan ("Skip") Grossman will not run for a second term on the school Board. Mr. Grossman is the only Borough representative on the board whose term expires this year and so far, no candidate has come forward to replace him.

Two Township seats are available this year. One is now occupied by Hugh Brandt, who was appointed to replace Dale Madden. The other is that of Harry Levine, now serving his first term on the board.

Mr. Levine said this week that he is still undecided about running again, but will make up his mind by next week. Mr. Brandt has not said what he will do.

All terms are three years. Deadline for filing petitions for the April election is Thursday, February 23 at 4 p.m. Nominating petitions may be obtained from the office of the school board secretary in the Valley Road building between 8:30 to 4:30 daily.

barring that had been lost.

A resident of Independence Drive told police last week that his collection of 252 baseball cards were missing from a looseleaf book on a shelf where they had been stored. The collection is valued at $900.

The theft of $327 Friday afternoon from the office of a Route 206 business firm is still under investigation by Township police who report they have a suspect in the theft.

According to police, the money had just been counted by an employee who left the money on a counter when he had to leave the office for a few minutes. When he returned it was missing. Ptl. James Vandemark conducted the initial investigation.

Borough police report that an employee in the University Press building on William Street left her purse untended for five minutes when she left the office on Friday. When she returned her $20 brown leather wallet containing $80 was missing from the purse.

After leaving a Nassau Street restaurant last week, a Princeton resident realized he had left his briefcase in a booth. He returned 25 minutes later but his plastic briefcase valued at $9 was gone. Inside were his check book and personal papers.

Two meter heads valued at $125 each were twisted off their posts on Prospect Avenue between 1 Friday morning and 9:40 Monday morning when the theft was discovered. The recently installed meters on Prospect have been the target of repeated acts of vandalism.

WINDOWS DAMAGED

Replacement Cost: $1,000. Four Thermopane window units at the Richard Court condominium project under construction at 321 Franklin Avenue were damaged last week by pellets from a BB gun or air rifle. The replacement cost was estimated at $1,000 by the victim, the Giancarli Construction Corporation of Trenton.

In the Township, a marble was shot through a double-pane picture window in the front of a house on Sycamore Lane. The victim told police of hearing a loud crashing sound at 9:25 Friday evening. Investigating, police found the marble lodged between the two panes.

ESCAPEE RETURNED

To Psychiatric Hospital. An escapee from the Trenton Psychiatric Hospital was arrested in Princeton Friday and returned to the hospital.

Borough police received a teletype two days earlier that James D. Britt, 30, whose last known address was Maple Street, had escaped from the institution. He was observed by Ptl. Charles Davall in the Wawa Market on Lower University Place.

The officer waited until Britt emerged from the store and arrested him. Police said that Britt had been committed

Burger King Here?

Maybe and maybe not. In any case, Buxton's has gone, and it is possible that a Burger King may move into the 84 Nassau space where Buxton's was until early this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Umberto Roberto, who own Buxton's and the building containing it, have also been the Buxton landlords. They are now in negotiations about filling the space but Mrs. Roberto said this week that no final decisions have been made.

Burger King isn't the only hamburger on the grid, apparently, and other firms are also interested in the location. But Mrs. Roberto said it was possible she and her husband might decide to break through the wall and expand Buxton's, rather than take on a new tenant.

Lt. Commndr. John Baker Returns from Duty Off Lebanon aboard Battleship New Jersey

Standing watch during an actual "fire mission" and being summoned to the bridge and told to take charge of a delicate refueling operation — these were the high points of Lt. Commndr. John Baker's three-week tour of volunteer duty aboard the U.S.S. New Jersey off the Lebanese coast. Baker, who lives in Princeton Junction, was one of 138 U.S. Navy Reserve volunteers chosen from 1,200 applicants to serve aboard the U.S.S. New Jersey so that men who had been on the ship since last April, could return to the states for leave.

And he was there when the New Jersey, as he phrases it, "fired shots in anger."

"It was Sunday, January 15. I went on watch at 3:45 p.m. By 4:45, it was dark and we could clearly see a fire-fight in the hills around the Beirut airport. There were two explosions in rather short order: a Marine fuel bunker and a 707 airliner on the tarmac.

"The Marines were responding with full mortar and artillery, but the fact that the firing continued caused the Marines to ask for support. The U.S.S. Tattnell — a destroyer — was with us and slightly ahead of us, and because she was closer to shore, she was called on first and fired 80 five-inch rounds into the hillside.

"Then she was asked by the high command to withdraw, and the New Jersey was asked to continue at targets farther inland, which the Tattnell couldn't reach. The systems on the New Jersey have been updated, and have slightly more powerful ability.

"We fired 36 five-inch rounds and were evidently successful because at 6:30 p.m. we were told to cease.

Learning the job, I was on the bridge, as officer of the deck under instruction. As a Reservist, I'm not a qualified officer of the deck, but I was learning and doing the required jobs under supervision. The man I was replacing was in the weapons department.

"To the great credit of the Baker, whose parents are Marines, they had no Mr. and Mrs. Richard Baker casualties at all. There was no of Armour Road, went into the further firing for the next ten Navy Reserve in 1969 and hours, and this is to the credit spent three years on active duty of the Navy. That's all they're ty, always as a Reservist. He in this for: to protect the Jersey Reserve Unit, where Reservists train for the jobs they'd do on the U.S.S. New

He spent 22 days on board, Jersey if there were a recall, but was away 30 days, spending time in Norfolk, Virginia two weeks of active duty for a briefing and training. The year but this has been imman returned to Philadelphia possible since the New Jersey last Friday.

On his return to When the New Jersey herself

BACK FROM LEBANON: John Baker, a lieutenant commander in the U.S. Navy Reserves, spent 22 days on the battleship New Jersey with a group of volunteers relieving men who had not been home on leave for eight months. Against the navy blue background of the tie he is wearing here, is a flotilla of tiny gold replicas of the New Jersey.

Philadelphia, he was greeted by his wife, Linda, whom he had married December 3 — only three weeks before his Lebanon adventure.

Wife Supportive. "Linda was very supportive. She had no prior military experience and this was a quick indoctrination! But she said she'd have me for the rest of her life and these men we were replacing hadn't seen their families for eight months."

His boss was supportive, as well. Baker is an assistant vice-president of United Jersey Bank N.A., and manager of the Lawrence branch. John O'Gorman, president of the bank, was deck under instruction. As a Reservist, I'm not a qualified officer of the deck, but I was learning and doing the required jobs under supervision. The man I was replacing was in the weapons department.

On his return to When the New Jersey herself

The trip to Lebanon was a hop-skip jaunt, taking the volunteers from Norfolk's Naval Air Station to St. Johns, Newfoundland, then Lajes in the Azores, Rota in Spain, Sigonella in Sicily, Ben Gurion Airport in Tel Aviv, then a bus to Haifa and a small water-taxi to the ship.

"The New Jersey was waiting for us. As soon as we were on board, she left Haifa and started north for Beirut, about two hours away."

Baker was in the second of four volunteer shifts that will relieve the New Jersey's crew.

"I am so proud to have served with those guys! They know why they're there and their morale is of the highest — no griping. And I have pride, too, that I was the only officer asked to go. What we did, was to allow 287 men to go home for a three-week leave and I'm proud to have done that."

VALENTINE LUNCHEON
As PCDI Benefit. The Princeton Child Development Institute, an educational and research center for autistic children, is offering a special Valentine lunch to business and office workers in the Princeton area, and to bosses who want to treat their staffs to a Valentine's Day party.

The Institute and a local gourmet caterer have teamed up to produce 500 box lunches, each with a fresh flower, which will be delivered to each office by volunteers on Tuesday, February 14, between 9 a.m. and 12 noon. A free bottle of wine is included with every order of eight lunches from the same location.

Two different menus are available: one with a croissant sandwich of smoked ham and cheese, and the other with a croissant sandwich of smoked chicken with raisins and nuts. Chocolate or vanilla cheesecake, an apple and a surprise Valentine's card are also included.

Part of the cost of every lunch will go for educational purposes to benefit autistic children, and a receipt for the tax deductible donation is delivered with every lunch. A minimum order of four lunches from each address is requested, to ease delivery. Lunches are $10 and $12.50.

Invitations have already been sent to many businesses in the Princeton area, and more are available. For more information, an invitation, or to place an order, call Mea Johnston at 921-1520 or 924-6280.

LUNCH AT THE DESK—With a difference, Marsha Beidler, right, a member of the firm of Smith Lambert Hicks and Miller, looks over the Valentine lunch invitation from Princeton Child Development Institute (PCDI) with Darlene Evanchik, a special education teacher at the Institute. To celebrate Valentine's Day and to raise funds for the benefit of autistic children, the Institute is offering 500 gourmet lunches to be delivered to business firms on the morning of January 14. Ms. Beidler's firm was the first to order the partially tax deductible gourmet lunches for the entire staff.

Also, the Council of Community Services is now seeking nominations for the fourth annual Robert E. Clancy Award, presented to a resident of the Princeton area for "outstanding services as a volunteer." Deadline for nominations is March 16.

The Council presents a special youth award also. A five-member panel of judges makes the final decisions in both adult and youth categories.

The Clancy award is given to individuals who volunteer their time in one-to-one, person-to-person service, not to those who serve in leadership positions. Application forms for nominations are available from the Council of Community Services in the Valley Road building.

At the United Way dinner, Mrs. Waxwood and Mr. Tarr will be honored, like other Lambert winners, for having served over a long period of time, "in an unselfish effort to make life better for those living."

VOLUNTEERS

IT'S NEW To Us

BRIGHTEN GREY DAYS With Flowers. A welcome relief from February's dreary greys is the new Flower Market, a jewel of a store tucked away on Witherspoon Walk just opposite the Alchemist & Barrister restaurant. Yet another creative business venture owned by Thomas Root, his sons, James and Thomas, and Peter Vielbig, all of Princeton Caterers, and Kay Woods-worth, the Flower Market offers the shopper much more than beautiful flowers and plants which are in abundance there.

The shop intends to introduce a full blown flower service to larger corporations, small businesses, real estate companies, and doctor's and lawyer's offices on a scheduled basis as a thoughtful way of saying "thank you."

"It takes so little to make someone feel good: a few pretty flowers or a basket full of goodies, even tiny ones, are so much appreciated," says Mr. Root, who is known to bring flowers to his friends whenever he has the opportunity to do so. In his words, "It's a way of saying to someone, 'Hey, everything isn't all that bad!'"

The Flower Market, together with Princeton Cox's, another successful business of the same group, companies which have been in business since 1961. One of the real first flowers appeared on estate companies has begun to the sidewalk. It seems that a welcome basket full of flowers simply give everyone food, small gifts and flowers to in town a lift whether in a new homeowners.

elaborate arrangement, one of simple stem of freesia, or perhaps a bunch of daisies.

The Flower Market, together with Princeton paradise, carnations, and wonderful tulips are among the selections which will keep flower lovers happy until their own flowers bloom in spring.

There is a cozy atmosphere about this new shop, perhaps because of the handsome reproductions on display there. The furniture — a bench, a corner cupboard, a wood box, and side tables — is made by a group of young artisans from Whitehouse, N.J.

A grandmother's corner will yield many cherished gifts for the holidays to come, especially during Easter when chickens, bunnies, and rabbits are treasures to give and receive. Children's sweaters my Manos del Uruguay are beautifully made and irresistible gifts for a young child.

Full-scale wedding services will be planned by the Flower Market come spring. Walter Kaplonski will handle everything from the mother-of-the-bride's corsage, to a cloth runner for the aisle in the church, to the flowers' transfer from the church to the reception, a more economical way to make use of the lovely arrangements planned by the designer.

Store hours are from 9 to 5:30 Monday through Wednesday and Saturdays, and from 9 to 6:30 on Thursday and Fridays until spring when hours will be longer.

GOURMET FOODS At Squire's Choice, a business which began with its owner, Roger Owen, roasting nuts in his own garage in Yardley, Pa. has blossomed into a full-fledged gourmet food and bake shop. Squire's Choice, located since November in Palmer Square, is a charming shop, a great addition to the Square, offering a variety of delicious gourmet foods.

Tempting aromas of freshly baked croissants each morning now reach the sidewalk outside the shop where hungry Princetonians queue up for fresh imported coffee (a different flavor each day) and croissants filled with jams or silvered almonds during the breakfast hours and reasonably priced box lunches in the afternoons.

It's New to Us

Though space is limited, an amazing variety of nuts, cheeses, coffee beans, jellies and preserves, candies, biscuits and other delicacies can be found in the hand-somely decorated shop. A round skirted table covered with jars of colorful jelly bellies, bleached pine walls and floor, a simple country table in the window creatively displaying the shop's fare in baskets, and open shelves full of jars of jams, all contribute to an old-fashioned cozy atmosphere.

"This is a comfortable, cozy place to work. I just have a good feeling whenever I'm here," says the shop's manager, Kathy Flynn, also of Yardley. Mrs. Flynn, formerly a dental hygienist, worked in Roger Owen's first successful shop in that town. He has since opened other Squire's Choice shops in the market in Ardmore, Pa. and in Springfield. In three short years the successful chain has branched out into fine cheeses and other gourmet specialty foods.

Warm Welcome. "Every one here has been so welcoming, the merchants in Palmer Square, the reaction of customers who have been so complimentary, it has really been fun," continues Mrs. Flynn, who is particularly pleased about the town's reaction to their box lunches.

There is good reason for everyone's enthusiasm, because the lunches are prepared daily by two Swiss women whose crab and shrimp, tuna, chicken and egg salads on homemade white or rye bread, or on buttered croissants, are a gourmet's delight. For $3.50 each box lunch — which varies daily — includes a fresh salad and a surprise dessert, a red and white checked napkin all packaged neatly in bakery boxes. All is prepared in the shop's tiny yet efficient kitchen where every inch of space is utilized.

A student from Princeton, Doug Binzak, comes in each morning to bake the croissants which are ready in time for the shop's opening at 9:30. Coffees are a specialty of Squire's Choice, including unusual flavors such as Amaretto, Columbian, Copenhagen, Swiss almond chocolate, and Kenya AA.

Homemade jams by Clearbrook Farms in Cincinnati, Ohio, topped in calico, make nice hostess gifts as do the vast variety of preserves, chutneys, and sweet dessert sauces from the Silver Palate. Gentlemen Farmer's preserves from upper Buck's County include such exotic combinations as pumpkin marmalade or grapefruit lime with rum!

Salted and unsalted cashews, pecans, macadamia, and mixed nut combinations are roasted right in the kitchen of Squire's Choice every few days to insure freshness. The sesame party mix, the dried fruit and nuts combo, and onion flavored bagel crisps make thoughtful gifts packaged in attractive paper cartons with a graph design or pinot in yellow, blue, red, or green.

A useful service of the new shop is their gift basket which will be prepared for a minimum of $15. Surely one of these, packed with the tempting delights, will win the heart of that special Valentine!

After a long day of work, why not stop in and take home some fresh pasta by Pasta and Cheese available here or perhaps one of the delectable plates prepared for dinner such as chicken Kiev? The homey feeling at Squire's Choice will warm the heart and tempt the palate.

A COZY PLACE: Kathy Flynn, manager of Squire's Choice enjoys the shop's cozy atmosphere. Country in feeling, the welcome food shop offers freshly roasted nuts, croissants filled with jams, and a wonderful array of specialty foods.

Gorgeous flowering plants will please your Valentine — a promise of spring which will last for many weeks to come. Cyclamen, exotic tulip bulbs which have been forced, gardenias, primroses, flowering quince, African violets, orchids and phalaenopsis are among the many choices.

No gift basket is too small to warrant the attention of the shop's creative design manager, Walter Kaplonski, whose talents will also be utilized for large parties and weddings, another service of the market. Baskets galore fill each corner of the Flower Market, all sizes and shapes waiting to be filled with potpourri, herbs, plants or fresh flowers. Why not fill your own for your Valentine? NURSERY, AT PHS Agreement Continues. The Princeton Cooperative Nursery School will hold an open house next Tuesday from 12:30 to 2 in the Princeton High School space rented from the Princeton Regional School system. PCNS has been at the high school for the past three years and the agreement has been renewed for another year.

The nursery school, which is over 40 years old, has rented space in a variety of Princeton buildings over the years. It now accommodates its children in space next to the former home economics classroom at the high school. The large room, which can be divided in two, was designed by architect J. Robert Hillier, who contributed his services.

"As the numbers above clearly show, Nassau Savings continues to enjoy a period of exceptional growth. Surely one of the reasons is that we provide a full range of financial services at very competitive rates. Take our Money-Maker Account, for example. It has consistently paid more than money-market funds and is currently offering 9.5%.

"But I feel there is a second and key reason for our success: although we have grown enormously, we continue to give our customers personalized, thoughtful service. See for yourself. I invite you to make Nassau Savings your Family Financial Center, too."

"THE LION'S SHARE"

YWCA Fund Raiser. Service auctions have become a popular method of fund raising for local organizations, offering winning bidders everything but the kitchen sink.

Now, the Princeton YWCA will fill that gap: two YWCA volunteers will spend eight woman hours cleaning your kitchen, if you are the winning bidder at the YWCA's "The Lion's Share" auction, Saturday, March 3.

Other services under the gavel of auctioneer and comedian, Woody Woodford, include a day trip for two children to an area historic landmark such as Gettysburg or Valley Forge, summer houses in Vermont and New Hampshire, a full size hand made quilt, homemade pies, dinners of many descriptions to serve a party of eight, and portrait sittings with an area photographer.

The YWCA is kicking off the evening with a smorgasbord of breads, cheeses, and hors d'oeuvre donated by Princeton area caterers, along with ham, turkey and homemade desserts and wine on which to sup and sip while bidding in the silent auction. Topping off the evening will be the lively live auction. Bidders must have advance tickets, and reservations are limited. Call 924-5571 to assure your share in "The Lion's Share."

STUDY FASTER, BETTER In New Program. A program designed to help high school students read faster and more accurately will be given under the auspices of the Arts Council of Princeton starting this Monday in the Art People Place, Witherspoon Street.

Kenneth McCarthy, who conceived and will teach the program, developed it for the Educational Opportunities Program of Princeton University. It was designed to help freshmen adjust to the increased volume of work in college, and Mr. McCarthy has adapted the program to meet the needs of high school students.

The course, "Read Faster and Study Better," will cover rapid reading, improving comprehension, strengthening memory, preparing for and taking tests and managing time, motivation and stress. Students will examine the way they are now approaching their assignments, and will

For 'Jazzy' Fete. The 31st annual Fete, a benefit for Princeton Medical Center, will take place on Saturday, June 9. This year's theme, "The Jazzy Fete," was announced at the kickoff meeting by the 1984 co-chairmen, Peggy Gallagher and Barbara Simonds.

The chairmen invite the community to join friends on

The Auxiliary provides the Medical Center Foundation with funds for equipment not usually found in a community hospital of the size of Princeton Medical Center. The Fete is one of the fund raising activities of the Auxiliary, and is held each year.

This year the Fete Car Raffle will feature a "jazzy" red 1984 Chrysler Le Baron convertible with white interior. Tickets for the car raffle will be available in March.

INFORMATION IS THEIR BUSINESS: Helen Spiro, center, president of About Town, Inc., Information Services, shows a copy of "About Princeton," a 16-page map guide to the community, to Township Mayor Winthrop Pike and Borough Mayor Barbara Sigmund. The company presented copies of this their first publication to the Borough and Township and the Public Library for use by residents, visitors and employees.

BUSINESS

In and Around Princeton

NEW MAP GUIDE ISSUED
About Princeton, Sensing a lack of centeredness and a need for information about the booming Princeton community, three Princeton women have formed a company and published a new map guide.

About Town Inc. Information Services has made its debut with the publication of the first edition of "About Princeton, A Map Guide," a full color booklet of annotated subject-matter maps of the Princeton region. The three principals are Helen Spiro, Joy Reynolds and Linda Oppenheim.

The three first worked together ten years ago on the "Princeton People's Yellow Pages," a directory of community resources. That effort grew out of the Peace Center on Nassau Street and was the result of the input and involvement of some 200 people. It was a truly cooperative effort that enjoyed wide community support and had a profound and positive effect on many of those who worked on it—particularly on Ms. Spiro, Ms. Reynolds and Ms. Oppenheim.

It was Ms. Oppenheim, librarian at the Woodrow Wilson School, who, seeing the development boom on all sides of Princeton, remarked to the others, "There is an information explosion out there, and a need for information about the communities." Incorporated in August, About Town, Inc. Information Services is the result.

The company will specialize in providing information about communities as a whole or selected aspects of them, such as business services, social services or cultural resources. In addition to publishing, it will offer consulting, research, writing, editing and seminars tailored to the needs of clients.

The map guide is its first publication, a visible, tangible "tip of the iceberg" of what the company hopes to provide. Focusing on Princeton Borough and Township and the Route One corridor, the 5½ by 11½-inch, 14-page guide contains eight individual maps. Restaurants and food shops, basic shopping, transportation and accommodations, cultural and recreational activities—each has a map of its own, as do the campuses of Princeton University, Westminster Choir College, and Princeton Theological Seminary. There is also an indexed street map of the Borough and Township.

Opposite the maps are useful information such as restaurant addresses and hours, bus and train terminal phone numbers and capsule descriptions of cultural and recreational activities. Hotels, corporate centers, municipal services and public parking lots are indicated by symbols on the maps themselves.

According to Ms. Reynolds, the company conceived the idea for the map guide to answer the growing need for local information by residents and visitors alike. The response on the part of corporations, hotels and realtors has been "very, very enthusiastic," she says. "About Princeton" is available at book stores, Cox's, the Kiosk and by writing About Town Inc., Box 324. It retails for $4.50, but is also available in bulk rate.

MAKE NO MISTAKE

Tax Kit Makes It Easier. It may not increase your refund but Princeton's Nassau Press believes it has a kit that will make it easier for taxpayers to reach the bottom line.

Entitled "The Morris 1984 Tax Kit," it tells taxpayers more than just how, it tells them when and for how long. Essentially, says Nassau Press president, Ernest A. Zelenak, "it aids the taxpayer's ability to quickly organize records for expedient tax preparation."

After interviewing thousands and thousands of taxpayers throughout the country, the authors, Kenneth M. Morris and Michael E. Kecca, Mr. Zelenak reports, came to the conclusion that the biggest obstacle and anxiety in terms of the taxpayer was organizing the mammoth number of records and receipts required. "The files require we keep accurate records and it scares the hell out of people," said Zelenak.

Extensively field-tested, the Tax Kit was described by Zelenak as a "dynamite concept. It definitely fulfills a Zelenak, concentrate on how to fill out an IRS statement. "We not only tell you how to fill out a statement, but how to organize and keep tax records on an ongoing basis. Come next April, if you've used our Tax Kit, your taxes are practically prepared to go." The tax kit, a project Nassau Press has been working on for two years, claims Zelenak, contains a big accordion style folder divided into nine sections. Included is an 80-page booklet which gives tax tips, tells what records to keep and for how long, what ones would go into each of the nine folders, and how to use your organized records to prepare your own tax return.

He and his wife, recalled Zelenak, have always struggled in preparing their tax return. This year, he said, using the Tax Kit, his wife was able to sort everything out in an hour and a half. Her reaction, he said, was "Ernest! For the first time we are frighteningly organized." The Tax Kit is compact and will fit easily, said Zelenak, in a filing cabinet or desk drawer. Nassau Press, he said, has an advance written order for 20,000 kits from its national distributor, E.P. Dutton of New York, and they need; it has never been done before."

Other popular tax guides, such as J.K. Lasser's and Sylvia Porter's, remarked Adjusted for the pending stock split, net income per share was $0.87, up 44 percent from $0.60 in the fourth quarter in 1982.

Of the $0.87 per share, approximately $0.21 after-tax was contributed by the profitable sale of Horizon Creditcorp. The quarter was also the first to include results from The Bank of New Jersey which was acquired on September 30, 1983.

FIRM IS HONORED

For Building Design, Kelbaugh and Lee Architects have received a Citation Award in the American Wood Council's second biennial non-residential design program.

The award-winning building, Milford Reservation Solar Conservation Center in Milford, Pa., is a 16,000-square-foot educational center for the study of nature. Designed to further environmental awareness, the building is intended as a model of conservation, natural heating and cooling.

With dormitory space for 110 people, a dining hall, classrooms, a library and offices, the structure incorporates six passive solar heating and cooling systems. Space heating bills for the center have proved about equal to those of a typical house in the area.

PEOPLE

In the News

High Spirits, subtitled "the heartwarming story of a modern American family in search of an old-fashioned dream," has been published by Doubleday. Written by Peter Funk of Province Lane Road, it is the lively story of the 15 years the author and his wife spent on a farm in Lambertville with their seven children and an assortment of barnyard animals.

The Funks had strong philosophical reasons for moving from suburbia to a 110-acre working farm. As Mr. Funk writes, "We wanted a sense of family unity. We longed for a happy and wholesome family based on love, awareness and individual responsibility. We wanted to be rooted in nature's timeless cycles."

Peter Funk

They get what they came for—and more besides. There is a strong sense of family in this book and of coping with the unexpected: a brush fire that almost gets out of hand, the goat with the knack of escaping any pasture fencing and taking the horses with her, death in the menagerie, tragedy among the neighbors, the author's frightening bout with cancer.

Mr. Funk has a consuming interest in words as a "lexical semanticist" who has continued for 20 years the Reader's Digest feature, "It Pays to Increase Your Word Power," started by his father. The narrative of High Spirits is interspersed with his musings on the origin or derivation of this word or that.

Also clearly evident in the book is the strong religious and spiritual focus upon which the Funks center their lives. After 15 years, the children grown and the farm then too large for two to manage, they decide to sell "Good Ground Farm." But without a profound sense of thanksgiving for what it meant to them as a family, and not without the final irony of seeing the willful goat docilely participating in a Christmas creche at a nearby Baptist church.

Charles M. Bolster, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph L. Bolster Jr. of 124 Park Place, has been selected for membership in the Phi Society, a freshman honorary society at Denison University, Granville, Ohio. He is a 1982 graduate of Princeton High School and a sophomore at Denison.

Phi Society is a sub-organization of Phi Beta Kappa, to promote high scholarly achievement among freshmen and encourage them to strive for membership in the national honor society.

Douglas Eveleigh of 1 Toth Lane, Rocky Hill, a member of the department of biochemistry and microbiology at Cook College, has received the distinguished service award for 1983 from the Biomass Research Center of the University of Arkansas in Fayetteville.

The honor is presented annually to a person who has made significant contributions toward the production of liquid fuels and chemicals from renewable sources. Dr. Eveleigh's work at Rutgers has concentrated on the conversion of cellulose waste from plant materials into industrial chemicals. He has written many papers on the subject and lectured on it extensively.

Four area residents have been named to the Dean's List for the fall semester at Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute (RPI).

They are Peter B. Vocum of 307 Shady Brook Lane, a junior majoring in computer science; Mark R. DeLuca of 106 Howard Way, Pennington, a sophomore majoring in chemistry; Carol J. Stockdale of 7 Tower Place, Lawrenceville, a junior majoring in mechanical engineering; and Leonard Tena of 18 Brandon Road, Lawrenceville, a freshman majoring in general engineering.

Herbert S. Bailey Jr. of Griggstown, director of Princeton University Press, will be a visiting fellow at the National Humanities Center near Chapel Hill, N.C., during February, March and April.

Mr. Bailey will be on leave from the press in order to begin work on a project relating to humanistic study in American, particularly with respect to publication.

A new children's book by Alvin Schwartz has been cited by the American Library Association as a notable children's book of 1983.

The book, which explores the varieties of the riddle, is "Unriddling: All Sorts of Riddles to Puzzle Your Guesstery." It is published by J.B. Lippincott Junior Books, a division of Harper & Row.

Mr. Schwartz lives at 505 Prospect Avenue.

A third novel by Princeton resident Stuart Mitchner, "Rosamund's Vision," has been published by Little Brown. His earlier novel was "Indian Action."

Described by Publishers Weekly as "light, larky, (a) stylish celebration of eccentricity," this novel has at its center a free-lance female journalist from Bristol, England, and a late-night phone-in show radio personality in a small New Jersey city called New Bristol.

"Tele-Tax" is once again at the other end of your telephone to answer questions about income tax. This year, it is available to those with rotary dial telephones, as well as to push-button customers.

For push-button phone taxpayers in the Trenton area, the Internal Revenue Service number is 599-2150. Those with rotary dial telephones must call Newark at 201-623-5400.

Tele-tax, which provides about 140 recorded messages on key tax matters, is available week-days between 8:15 and 4:15. Outside your local dialing area, a long-distance charge will apply; however, help is available without charge from 800-424-1040.

In addition, the IRS district offices — Trenton and New Brunswick are the closest to Princeton — have staff members who will provide forms and self-help material, as well as answer questions.

If you have not kept copies of tax returns from previous years, you may request a copy by calling the IRS and asking for Form 4506, "Request for Copy of Tax Form or Individual Income Tax Account Information." The charge is $5, which must be sent in with your request and the form. Tax return information, including tax shown on return, taxable income, adjusted gross income and the like, is also available for $2.50 per tax year. The IRS says that if you plan income-averaging you should ask for copies of returns, rather than account information.

Allow 45 days for delivery if you want prior year returns. 30 days for return information.

An IRS reminder: unless you give your bank an accurate form W-9, you run the risk of having 20 percent of your interest and dividends withheld this year. The form asks you to verify the Social Security and tax information numbers on record.

W-9s were mailed out several weeks ago.

In addition, the state has adjusted transportation aid so that Princeton will receive 75 percent of the 90 percent in aid that had been expected.

Since the state is supposed to provide 100 percent of transportation costs for a district, the net effect for Princeton is to receive only 52.5 percent of transportation costs, Ms. Horner calculates.

"But they've never funded 100 percent of transportation,"

The state did say that Princeton can fund compensatory, special and bilingual education through taxes outside the caps, but only up to the amount Princeton would have received. This is the first time that has been allowed, Ms. Horner said.

Princeton's cap is a low 4.8 percent. This means the operating budget can be 4.8 percent higher than a year ago. Dr. Houston said he hoped to keep the tax level at or below the cap.

Mrs. McGoldrick said she was "extremely distressed" at the reported comment of an official in Governor Thomas Kean's office that school boards should know the state never budgets the full amount for schools and should plan accordingly.

"But how can you plan," Mrs. McGoldrick exclaimed, "when one year you receive $500,000 less and the next year $87,000 less? The school and state will abide by certain laws, but other laws they say they will ignore."

"It's an irony," the superintendent remarked, "when improving education has been on the front pages for eight to ten months. They say it's not a Federal responsibility but a state responsibility, and here it's apparently not a state responsibility, either. I guess it's a local responsibility."

"However," she punned, "we cannot rest on our laurels."

She quoted census figures showing that the number of black-owned homes in the Borough declined from 97 to 85 between 1970 and 1980 and the number of black-occupied rental units from 286 to 200.

Michael Floyd, co-ordinator for the Borough's Neighborhood Preservation Program, stated that 1980 census figures show 40 percent of Borough residents in the low or moderate income category.

Census figures for 1980 give $29,599 as the median income in Princeton. Low income is defined by the State Supreme Court as a maximum of $14,799 and moderate income as a maximum of $23,679.

In the Borough, Mr. Floyd said, 19 percent of the families are in the low-income category and 21 percent are moderate-income, for a total of 40 in both categories.

Princeton Regional School HIGHLIGHTS

Highlights is sponsored and prepared by the Parent Teacher Organization of the Princeton Regional School.

A variety of experiences have been enjoyed by PHS students in recent weeks.

Humanities Department

Principal John Sakai was guest of honor at a Mexican fiesta prepared by the Spanish III students of Senor Manuel Morales. The luncheon, which consisted of tacos, refried beans, salad and "pastel de nubes," was the culmination of the study of Mexico through the novel "El Zorro" by Ignacio Manuel Altamirano. In developing this novel, Senor Morales used the technique of cooperative learning in which the students worked in cooperatively structured groups and assumed the responsibility of helping each other to increase achievement, improve self-esteem, and to promote mutual understanding.

In early 1984, PHS students have the opportunity for organized European travel. In February, Bernard Poncin and fourteen students will visit Arcachon, France. In April, students from France will visit PHS. Manuel Morales and John Hilton are organizing a trip to Spain during the Spring break. The voyage, sponsored by the Cultural Heritage Society of Philadelphia, will include stops at Madrid, Toledo, Seville, Granada, Cordoba, Barcelona and Costa del Sol.

Each year the members of the PHS Band renew their philosophy of community service. In 1982, their performance schedule included a benefit for senior citizens. This year the Band is giving its time and talent to entertain terminally ill children. On December 15, the group performed for the children of Children's Heart Hospital and St. Christopher's Hospital, both in Philadelphia.

The Drama classes of Carol Wimborg have been involved in several productions. On December 2-3, Alan Calk, Sandra Corsover, Jad Daley, Christopher Gross, Ted Irenas, Ben Davis, Alex Meluskey, John Russo and Lesnie Wortman starred in "A Visit to a Small Planet" by Gore Vidal.

"Blithe Spirit" by Noel Coward was presented on December 9, and 10 by Amy Bergman, Peter Bergman, Carolyn Dvorak, Nanci Moi, Eva Pomerantz, Jesse Springer and Emilie White.

Students of the Introductory Drama class - Emily Branson, Justine Davis, Adam Ende, Jasmine Griffin, Sharon Johnson, Stephanie Jones, Karen Keller, Jeff Matley, Liz Russell, Melena Rosenblum, Andrew Reichert, Gretchen Rhule, Davis Smith, Lisa Tancredi, Michele Vernon, Priscilla Walmsley, Wendy Wasserstein and Kaita Wolff - presented dramatic scenes for their parents at an evening performance on December 15.

Several speakers addressed the art classes of Lou Cicchini and David Mackey. These included Diane Kae of The Art Institute of Philadelphia, who reviewed commercial aspects of art and the requirements for entrance to the school; Andrew Rothman of the Parsons School of Design, who gave a slide presentation of the offerings of Parsons and a representative of the Philadelphia College of Art, who described the school through a slide presentation.

Social Studies Department

On December 2, 3, and 4, Kurt Greenhut and Douglas Snyder accompanied thirty students to the Model Congress sponsored by Princeton University at the Hyatt Regency in Washington, D.C. Participants included Jacob Farmer, Ronald Phillips, Graham Treststad, Michael Stefanchik, David Hazony, Devin Hoesa, Nathaniel Thurston, Sam Bagenstos, Kathi Woodfield, Lisa Scholnick, Sydni Craig, David Kingston, Tom Perkins, Safi Bahcall, John Cummings, Benedicte Callan, Meredith Magder, Veronica Fedorov, Elyn Wolf, Abby Tale, Liz Gray, Gail Ellis, Wendy Silverstein, Kathy Wolfe, Emily Branson, Ruth Bender, Eleanor Gorman, Scott Greenhut, Mark Schwartz, Tamer El Shaktis and Jon Abrahams.

In another government related project, Cara Lynch, Michael Feldstein and Brad Schwartz accompanied by Mr. Greenhut, attended the New Jersey Close Up session at the Capital Plaza in Trenton.

The Latin American Studies class of Jeffrey Luckner were enriched by the experiences of several residents. Nicholas and Marcia Van Dyke hosted a Latin American dinner after which Janice Carey showed slides of Ecuador and Peru. On another occasion, Ann Gallagher, PHS 1975, related her impressions of being a resident of Argentina.

Members of the debate team attended a tournament at the University of Massachusetts. David Proshan and Nick Hirsch obtained a trophy. Other participants included Jon Rees, Ahmed Taha, Darl Young, Micol Siegel, Deborah Marchand, Sam Ferguson, David Hazony, Devin Hoesa, Gretchen Bonach and David Gochfeld.

In the Hanover Park tournament, PHS debaters gained recognition. David Proshan and Nick Hirsch won second place, Deborah Marchand and Sam Ferguson, fourth place, Alan Schwartz and Simon Miller, first place, David Hazony, Devin Hoesa, Gretchen Bonach, and David Gochfeld, third place in the novice category. Other participants included Jon Rees, Ahmed Taha, Darl Young, Micol Siegel.

Ahmed Taha won first place in extemporaneous speaking at a recent tournament at Malawan High School.

Science Department

Sarah Bolton was named winner of the annual Bausch and Lomb Science Award. The bronze medal is awarded to a senior student who has attained the highest scholastic standing in science subjects.

Twenty-three students of Astronomy of Wayne Nelson visited the N.J. State Planetarium for a specially prepared program, "Starbound". The program dealt with recent findings relating to quasars, pulsars, black holes, and interpretations of data received from interplanetary space probes.

The Environment Studies class of Cherry Sprague joined the second grade class of Gerry Penrose in observing and gathering data about Lake Carnegie in order to make judgments about the water quality. Mrs. Sprague's class conducted similar experiments on the water of the Millstone River at Rocky Hill.

The Biology class of Mrs. Sprague was addressed by Adrienne Grovino, a technician in the laboratory of Dr. Bart Hoebel, Princeton University. Miss Grovino discussed the neurotransmitter action in pleasure centers of the brain.

Communications Department

Michael Strauss, Stephen Bent and Nick Habicht accompanied Librarian Anne Dimock to the annual conference of the N.J. Educational Media Association in New Brunswick. They were part of a panel which answered the questions of teachers and librarians about the reading interests of high school students.

Housing

"Were 40 percent of the Collins or Fasanella or lowhouse conversions for low-moderate families?" he demanded. The Fasanella family is planning townhouses on Humbert Street.

Native Princetonians are living in Ewing, Hamilton, Mercerville because they cannot afford Princeton, he continued, adding that "there are kids living with their parents in Constitution Hill or Westcott Road, as well as John and Pine Streets because they can't afford to live here. It's frightening."

Long Waiting Lists. According to Planning Board member Alma Field, in the audience, there are 290 names on the public housing waiting list and 212 on the Princeton Community Housing waiting list.

"You own the Art People building," she told Council. "Tear it down and build housing."

Princeton attorney Janice Stonaker told Council she had had 50 letters replying to an ad for an "affordable" apartment. She proposed a stronger flat ordinance allowing older families to convert large homes.

And former Council member Joseph Blanc pointed out "the middle and upper middle class can't afford to live here, either." He used an annual salary of $35,000 as an example.

It's unrealistic for small towns to deal alone with the problem, observed Zoning Board member Barry Royce. He suggested conferring with other towns to see whether the problem lends itself to regional solution.

Faculty Mortgages. He also reminded Council that Princeton University has long had a policy of granting low-down-payment, long-term mortgages to faculty.

"All towns have these problems," Mr. Green remarked. "Private investors making investments is what gets housing built, and if it isn't feasible, it doesn't happen."

R. William Potter, one of those opposed to Collins' housing plans, agreed. "You can't force someone to set aside housing if it's not feasible, but the burden to show that should be on the developer."

"Negative incentives often work best," commented Council member Peter Bearse. "If you're going to lose your shirt, you'll act."

RELIGION

COMMEMORATION SET

By University. Princeton University will hold its annual Service of Commemoration Sunday at 4:30 at Princeton Chapel. The service is a time for remembering faculty, staff, Bach, students and trustees who have died during the previous year.

calendar year. President William G. Bowen will read the names of the 34 men and women associated with the university who died in 1983. The homily will be delivered by Rabbi Edward Feld, chaplain of the B'nai B'rith Hillel Foundation.

BULLETIN NOTES

B'nai B'rith Women will be host at the annual get-together of Princeton's Jewish organizations, B'nai B'rith Hadassah and the Jewish Center's Men's and Women's clubs, on Sunday at 7:30 at the Jewish Center auditorium. The program will feature Klezmer music performed by Peter Sokolow and Rudy Tepel. Klezmer music, like the music of jazz combos, grew out of improvisation and ingenious harmonization. It is played by itinerant musicians on festive occasions and generally consists of folk songs and dances, hymns sung before prayers and some traditional music. It is played on trumpets or bugles, flutes, fiddles, clarinets, violins and cellos.

The two performers have been professional musicians for many years. Refreshments will be served.

Intergenerational Program Brings Together The Elderly and High School Student Helpers

CARING KIDS, ELDERLY WHO NEED CARE: "Caring, responsible, selected students will work for you", says the poster held by Ron Horowitz (left) of Princeton High School's Learning in the Community Program. Standing are Youth Employment Service advisor Eva Schwab and PHS junior Anne Jacobs; seated: YES advisor Hanneke Calmon and Erica Ruben, PHS senior. YES and Learning in the Community are providing student companion-helpers to Princeton's elderly.

"Oh, she was so sweet! I never had a grand-daughter, you know ..."

Bonnie was the first. She has graduated now from Princeton High, but when she was a senior, she spent afternoons with a 90-year-old whose wife had just died and who couldn't bear sorting out her clothes by himself. So he called the Youth Employment Service, asked for help, but warned YES he could pay only $2 an hour.

A YES staff member promptly said "I'll pay the difference" — between the $2 and the going rate of $3.50.

Four weeks later, Bonnie had spent almost 40 hours with her new friend, chatting and helping him in other ways, after the clothes had been neatly sorted.

Her visits were the highlights of his week. So the YES staff member said to the YES board — let's get started.

Today, there is an Intergenerational Program, run by YES and the Learning in the Community program at Princeton High School. It brings together, in the words of Ron Horowitz, PHS faculty member for Learning in the Community, "a group with the least experience and a group that's had the most experience."

11 Students. There are 11 students — nine girls and two boys — and about a dozen elderly people for whom they are friends, helpers, companions.

The program would be bigger, except that YES and PHS have trouble signing up the elderly. Ron and Hanneke Calmon of YES, are both sure the elderly are out there, but are less sure about why they haven't come forward.

There are posters in doctors' offices, the library, at bus stops, in the hospital and in church offices.

Ron thinks older people may be afraid of losing their independence.

"They don't realize it's for companionship as much as anything," he remarked in a recent discussion of the program. "One woman said 'I have enough friends — I just want to get the work done!' "But it's more than just doing the laundry," he emphasizes, "It's building relationships between generations."

A girl in the program describes what she does for a 95-year-old woman. (No names will be used, to protect privacy.)

"It was hard for her to lift things, so I did that. She loved to garden, so we'd go shopping together for plants and flowers and I would carry the plants. She hadn't been up-town for ages and it was such fun for her!"

"She loved to hook rugs, too, and while she worked, we'd talk about art and gardens and what I did in school."

A woman recovering from an operation had another YES student.

"I would go to her once a week, do light cleaning, change the bed, do the vacuuming. I filled out her Social Security forms, too, and shopped for groceries. She had trouble with her hands, and I would peel potatoes for her.

"When I left for the summer, she said 'I'm going to give you a great big hug!' and she did. It was special ... we became quite close, and I'm going to go back again to help her."

Shopping, Banking Help. One of the boys not only does the grocery shopping for his elderly friend but goes to the bank for her as well. He devotes two hours to her, once a week.

Another boy visits a woman who has just been released from the hospital and cannot do heavy lifting. This particular YES student does fairly heavy housework; most students do light things like dusting, vacuuming or laundry.

Incidentally, YES has found that although elderly women may need a young man to do heavy lifting, many of them do not feel it is proper to have him in the bedroom.

TALK

HOW TO KILL A TREE-
PART III
with Sam DeTuro
Woodwinds
Associates

Now we'll get into the killing of larger, mature trees. Disease and/or insects, nutritional deficiencies, pruning needs, all have the possibility of killing unless corrected.

Defoliation by insects two or three years in a row will kill many species. Nevertheless, attempts to alleviate insect problems may cause larger problems. Use of the wrong pesticide, or overuses by untrained people have hurt many a tree. Bad pruning can be worse than none. If stubs are left, they will die, and decay will enter. Even a blanket of mulch can turn malevolent.
Studies indicate that a too thick mulch (more than 4 inches) can foster fungal cankers. Mechanical damage to trees can contribute to ill health and possibly kill a tree. Mowers, snow plows, tillers and string trimmers are effective tools for battering trunks or tearing up roots.

Auto exhaust, burning trash, barbeques set up under trees have an adverse affect on our green friends. Weed killers are tree killers, too. Changing of the soil and water conditions are not good for trees. Most soil is porous. The pores allow air, containing oxygen without which roots die, and water without which roots die, into the soil complex. If soil is compressed, pores are eliminated.
No pores, no air, no roots, no tree.

There are many factors which produce negative influences on your tree's health and that is one reason why WOODWINDS suggests its Annual Maintenance Program to our clients. We suggest that you call WOODWINDS (924-3500) for a personal evaluation of your property and its needs.

actor, plays Barbarosa —
although he does not sing — and Gary Busey is the young outlaw. McCarter's critic says the movie "is full of absurd plot details and dialogue ... moving back and forth between absurdist comedy and tragic grandeur." The director is the Australian Fred Scheepis.

STUDENT DANCE

And Faculty. A concert of dances by faculty and students of Princeton University's program in theatre and dance will be given February 16-18 at 8 in Alexander Hall, with guest artists from the Daniel Lewis Dance Company.

James May, soloist with Daniel Lewis and a member of the University's dance faculty, will present "Repetitions," which he has choreographed to music by Peter Wetzler. Ze'eva Cohen, supervisor of Princeton's dance program, will present a new group work for students developed in a repertory class, danced to piano music by Ginastera which will be played live at the concert by David Friedman.

Geulah Abrahams, dance faculty member, will present a new solo, choreographed by her to the music of Steve Reich and performed by Cathy Lane, an advanced student. Mary Pat Robertson, who teaches ballet in the University's physical education department and at the Princeton Ballet Society, will perform with student dancers a piece she has choreographed to music by Milhaud. Dances choreographed by students have been set to many kinds of music ranging from classical to pop to tribal music.

HOW TO TRANSLATE Flaggles to Speak. Robert Flaggles, translator from the classics and head of Princeton University's department of comparative literature, will talk about translating Greek plays next Monday at 8 in the Art People Place, Witherspoon Street. The Arts Council of Princeton is the sponsor. Admission is $3 and the talk is open to the public.

Dr. Flaggles, who translated Sophocles' three Theban plays for Viking, will discuss his approach to translation and read selections from his book.

His translations include "Aeschylus' Oresteia," "Agamemnon," the complete poems of Bacchylides and Pindar's "Olympia," and he is currently working on a translation of the Iliad. The production of Sophocles' "Oedipus the King," presented in December by the University's Program in Theatre and Dance, used Dr. Flaggles' translation.

MUSIC

CHORAL CONCERTS

At Westminster Choir College, Westminster will present three free concerts of choral music on Sunday.

Beginning with the Westminster Oratorio Choir at 4:30, the music will continue with the Westminster Mastersingers in performances at 7 and 8:30. All of the concerts will be held in Bristol Chapel on the Westminster campus.

The Oratorio Choir, conducted by Timothy Jenks, a graduate conducting major at Westminster, will perform works by Norman Delli Joio including both secular and Brahms, as well as religious choral works and madrigals, Romantic pieces, and three choruses from "Alice in Wonderland" by Irving Fine. The program was selected and the choir was prepared by Mr. Jenks as a part of his graduate studies in choral conducting.

The Westminster Mastersingers include several small choral groups which are organized to give student conductors the opportunity to conduct, and to help train choir members to prepare choral works and expand repertoire.

The first of the Mastersingers concerts, this Sunday, will be conducted by graduate church music majors Anthony Birnbaum and Karl Zinsmeister. The second concert will be led by Douglas Leightenheimer and David Norfey, who are also church music students. Each concert works by Norman Delli Joio will include both secular and Brahms, as well as religious choral works and will be presented in the form of separate programs by each conductor.

MUSICAL OFFERINGS

From Seminary, Princeton Theological Seminary will present three evenings of music in February as part of its 1983-84 musical offerings.

This Wednesday the Seminary Chapel Choir will give a concert at 7:30 p.m. in Miller Chapel. The choir will be returning from a week-long tour which took them to Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, and Florida. It will perform music from the tour, including a selection of psalms and music for the liturgical year by Bach, Honnegar, and Vaughan Williams.

On Monday, February 13, David A. Weadon, the director of music at the Seminary, will perform a solo organ recital at 7:30 p.m. in Trinity Church, 33 Mercer Street. Mr. Weadon will perform works by Clerambault, Franck, Bach, and Liszt on the Casavant organ. Weadon holds both the Bachelor's and Master's degrees from Westminster Choir College and has given numerous recitals along the Eastern seaboard. He has performed as guest organ soloist for Piccolo Spoleto at the Spoleto Festival of Two Worlds in Charleston, S.C.

As a part of the Seminary's observance of Black History Month, David Hurd, organist and associate professor of church music at General Theological Seminary in New York, will present a concert-demonstration of his original compositions for organ, choir, and congregation in Miller Chapel on Wednesday, February 29, at 7:30. All concerts are free of charge and open to the public.

HANDEL WORK PLANNED
At University, The combined Princeton University Glee Club and Princeton University Chapel Choir, conducted by Prof. Walter Nollner, will give performances of Handel's "Israel in Egypt" in Alexander Hall on the Princeton University campus at 8:30 on the evenings of February 24 and 25.

These are evidently the first public performances of one of the world's most famous oratorios in Princeton for several decades. "Israel in Egypt" was written by Handel in the 1730's at the beginning of his eventually successful turn from opera to oratorio as a way of surviving as a composer in London. Because of its reliance on the Biblical text from "Exodus," the work attained popularity but slowly.

The work is scored for double chorus, orchestra and soprano, alto, tenor and bass soloists. The solo parts will be sung by Choir and Glee Club members. The orchestra is composed of instrumentalists in this region, including players from the University community and others from the surrounding region.

The Handel concert is open to the public, and tickets may be ordered by calling 452-3048 on weekday mornings. Tickets will also be available at the Alexander Hall box office on the evenings of the performances.

performances at the Metropolitan Opera in New York City
This month's "Opera Outings" production is "Rinaldo" by George Frideric Handel, and is set for Saturday, February 11. It is the first Handel opera ever to have been produced at the Metropolitan, and features Marilyn Horne as Rinaldo and, in his debut at the Met, Samuel Ramey as the Saracen. Miss Horne and Mr. Ramey appeared together in the Houston Opera production of "Rinaldo" in 1975.

As part of its "Opera Outings" program, the Westminster Conservatory offers preparatory classes the Monday evening preceding each performance. The class on "Rinaldo" is scheduled for this Monday and will include some inside information on the production, as John Ferguson, the course instructor was privileged to attend the dress rehearsal. Other information will include historical background, musical and stylistic features, outline of the plot and listening to excerpts of the opera.

Orchestra and rear orchestra tickets are still available at $60 and $50 respectively. The ticket price includes round trip coach transportation from the Westminster Choir College campus. Buses leave at 10 a.m., arriving in New York City in time for lunch and shopping, and return to Princeton directly following the performance. Free parking is available to all subscribers. Other remaining operas in the Conservatory series are Strauss' "Arabella" on March 17 and Britten's "Billy Budd" on April 14. For further information call 921-7104 or 924-6139.

TWO-HANDED JAZZ
From Jordan, this Saturday is the night. Jazz guitarist Stanley Jordan will display his two-handed technique in a concert at Alexander Hall at 8 under the auspices of USG Major Attractions, the concerts arm of student government at Princeton University. Jordan, a Princeton graduate in 1981, uses a two-handed pianist approach to playing the guitar instead of the traditional method. He can play whole compositions and improvisations — all his own — featuring completely independent voices.

The following week, on Friday, February 10, at 8 in Alexander, David Bromberg will give another of his Princeton concerts. He'll be joined by Gene Johnson (vocals and mandolin); Jeff Wisor (vocals and guitars) and Robert Amiot (bass). Bromberg himself plays everything from six to twelve-string guitars to country fiddle, mandolin and the steel guitar called a dobro. Styles range from jazz through folk to blues and country.

Ridge Quartet Gives Enjoyable Performance In Third of Princeton University Concerts Series

Princeton University Concerts continued its season of string quartets in the third event of its Chamber Masterworks series at McCarter Theatre by presenting the Ridge String Quartet. The snow and slush of Monday evening did not deter a fair-sized audience from enjoying this young ensemble in their presentation of works by Beethoven, Bartok and Mendelssohn.

This nice mixture of pieces was played with youthful vitality coupled with well developed facility and fine musicianship. The group's tone was warm, but not as full-bodied as that of more mature quartets such as the Juilliard reviewed in this column some months ago. The first violinist's tone was somewhat thin and lacking in strength, especially in Beethoven's Quartet in A Major (Op. 18, No. 5). Balance suffered occasionally, and ends of phrases were lost in the textural complexity. While the Beethoven was largely well played, the overall sound was not as compelling as it might have been.

WHO SAYS ART IS BORING? This group of youngsters at the Saturday morning Museum Talks for Children at Princeton Art Museum would seem to belie that notion. Using art work on exhibit or belonging to the museum, docents and art museum personnel tailor their talks to incite the interest and enthusiasm of children ranging in age from 5 to 12. The half hour talks are held every Saturday morning at 11 and draw an audience from a wide area. Parents often stay just to listen to this junior version of the popular Friday noon and Sunday afternoon regular adult Museum Talks.

MAILBOX

Developing the Russell Tract.
To the Editor of Town Topics:
(The following is a letter to the Princeton Regional Planning Board.)

After hearing at your January 24 meeting the presentation of plans for the development of the Russell Tract, may I address two points.

1. Traffic. The suggestion to create waiting lanes at the entrance to Edgerstone Road is excellent and even now overdue. However, the idea of extending light time in favor of traffic from Edgerstone is only robbing Peter to pay Paul, at morning peak traffic, which is heavily eastbound, there are already occasions when it is impossible to make a left turn into 206 with a green light, because cars are backed up all the way from Elm Road.

The notion of extending Edgerstone Road to Rosedale does not solve this dilemma and, disregarding environmental degradation, would compound the existing situation at 206 with through traffic of all sorts.

That leaves us with the right of way to Rosedale, which is by no means ideal, but I am sure the Township Engineering Department is fully capable of proposing solutions that would outweigh objections.

2. Density. Since the Russell Tract is the first development to be considered under the new cluster ordinance, I think the board would be well advised to make judgments that will stand up as precedents. Citizens of Princeton will certainly ask whether approved plans measure up not only to the letter of the ordinance but also to its spirit, its intent.

As the developer demonstrated, only by a highly disingenuous use of green coloring was he able to claim 40 percent open space, and not all of that usable. For instance, as you observed, the entire 75 foot strip along the eastern border was voluntary — up to individual land holders, not set aside by the developer. Considering that with other instances, we must conclude that the development is by no means in strict compliance with the ordinance.

As for the intent of the ordinance, all plans showed only a travesty on the whole idea of clustering. The dead-end circles of free-standing houses would fit into thousands of projects that ravage the countryside. Instead of reducing roads to a minimum, these plans offer acres of blacktop for the Township to maintain, as well as a convoluted sewer system.

Is the board willing to offer a 25 percent clustering bonus to a developer for increasing suburban sprawl? I cannot believe so, because that too would be a travesty.

H. PHILIP MINIS

Support Library!
To the Editor of Town Topics:
I cannot believe that Princeton will allow its public library to deteriorate into a second class facility.

A library needs books and staff, and money for both. Can we afford to understock our library or lose qualified personnel?

I know that our sewers and roads require immediate attention. I know that our Police and Fire Departments, and First Aid Squad, need and merit support. I know that all of this costs tax money and that tax money is limited.

But if a community like ours cannot find sufficient funds for a properly stocked and staffed public library, we are, indeed, poor.

For Flu Shots—Thank You.
To the Editor of Town Topics:
The text of the following letter was sent by the Joint Commission on Aging to M. Jasti, M.D., 260 Hawthorne Avenue, Princeton and Roseann Pease, R.N., 2 Fieldstone Road, Princeton.

The Joint Commission on Aging of Princeton Borough and Township would like to thank you for volunteering your time and professional skills for the administration of flu shots to senior citizens this past fall. Your generosity and your concern for older persons are to be commended.

As you know, there are many older residents in the Princeton community for whom the cost of a flu shot is a financial burden. Through the yearly flu shot program, sponsored by the Joint Commission on Aging and administered by the Senior Resource Center, many elderly citizens are afforded extra protection against the dangers and discomforts of flu.

The members of the Joint Commission and Jocelyn Helm, director of the Senior Resource Center, join in these thanks.

T. George Harris

Mr. Harris, a Princeton resident in 1976, was the founding editor of Psychology Today from 1968-72. He is a former Time writer and bureau chief and a former senior editor at Look magazine. He describes American Health as a new magazine whose focus is on the mind and the body.

A business meeting for year-end financial reports and the election of officers will be conducted by Auxiliary President Fleur Chandler following Mr. Harris's address.

The Mercer Alliance for the Mentally III will meet Monday at 7:30 at 145 Witherspoon Street.

Terry Coble, deputy public advocate and managing attorney for the Mercer County field office of the Division of Mental Health Advocacy in the Department of the Public Advocate, will speak. Ms. Coble will explain the role of the public advocate in the civil commitment process, including how the public advocate monitors the enforcement of patients' rights in public and private psychiatric facilities.

Which is the only college in America ever to have both the national rushing champion in football and the national scoring champion in basketball in the same school year? ... The only time it ever happened was when George Rogers of the University of South Carolina led the nation in rushing in college football in the fall of 1980, and Zam Frederick of the University of South Carolina led the nation in scoring in college basketball in the spring of 1981.

Here's an oddity ... The big league baseball stadium that has the largest seating capacity had the smallest attendance in the majors in 1983! ... The biggest seating capacity in major league baseball is Cleveland Stadium, which seats 74,308. ... But Cleveland finished last in attendance among all big league teams in 1983 with a total of 768,971.

Back in Ivy Basketball Race, Princeton Hopes To Retain Winning Ways against Brown, Yale

HEADED FOR THE HOOP: Princeton's Howie Levy was a dream come true Saturday night against Penn, as the Tigers whipped the Quakers, 63-51, in the Palestra. Levy scored 13 points, grabbed 8 rebounds and shut off Penn's inside game. He was named the Ivy League's co-player of the week for his efforts.

Three games into its Ivy schedule the Princeton basketball team has taught its followers an early lesson — don't count on anything.

The league's defending champions lost back-to-back games to Harvard and Dartmouth for the first time in more than a quarter century last month to fall into the Ivy cellar with an 0-2 mark.

Last Saturday, they traveled to the Palestra, where they had not won in eight years, and handed Penn its first league defeat, 63-51. A third loss would probably have eliminated the Tigers from the title chase, and perhaps this fact produced their inspired performance before a partisan Penn crowd of more than 3,000.

Whatever the reason for its fine play, there is no guarantee it will continue this weekend against Brown and Yale, the fourth and fifth consecutive Ivy road games for the Orange and Black. It's anybody's guess whether it has been bolstered by the return of Ira James, who sat out last season.

If the Tigers can repeat their Palestra performance, especially the final 20 minutes, they could win both, but that's a big "if."

Pete Carril deserves the credit for turning his Tigers back into winners, but not even he can be sure what kind of performance he'll see this weekend. The one certainty, this year more than ever, is the race for Ivy honors will be wide open.

Brown, which had spurred to a 3-0 record, fell to Yale last Wednesday, but remains in first place, a half game ahead of the Quakers, while Yale has evened its mark at 2-2. Six of the eight Ivy teams have already won twice; everybody has won at least once.

Sports in Princeton

Give the Tigers credit for using an aggressive zone defense, that denied the home team many shots from inside. Freshman forward Bruce Lefkowitz was limited to seven points, half his average, and did not score from the field in the first half.

Junior Anthony Arnolite, the hot shot on the trip to New England, did not get a field goal all night. The game's top scorer, Karl Racine needed 22 attempts to achieve his 20 points.

Princeton gained control early, jumping from a 4-2 deficit to a 12-4 lead on the strength of 10 consecutive points. The Tigers' shooting was not particularly sharp at first, but they kept getting good shots, and maintained a four to six-point lead throughout most of the half. It was 21-14 at the intermission, as Penn went the last three minutes without scoring.

Using an occasional fast break to good advantage, the Orange and Black upped the margin to ten, 30-20, with 16:20 to play. Barely able to put two or more baskets together, the Quakers never were able to mount a serious challenge. They switched to man-to-man coverage in the second half, and Princeton responded with a couple of successful back door plays.

Late in the game it was 58-42 with the Tigers employing a four-corner offense to run the clock down. Kevin Mullin hit for 15 points, and Howie Levy, showing off a nice outside shot on two occasions, had 13, and a season high eight rebounds. Levy is as good or better than Rich Simkus was a year ago in the center spot.

John Smyth, still not scoring up to expectations, had nine, but the key was the 10 points by Billy Ryan. Any time the Tiger floor leader gets that many, he is bound to open up the Princeton offense to its full potential. Starting his first game of the season, Isaac Carter had a good all-around effort, and eight points to show for it.

The victory put the Tigers at 8-6, the only Ivy team besides Cornell with a winning record, while Penn fell to 5-8. These two teams will meet again in Jadwin on Tuesday, February 14, by that time the Ivy race may have narrowed a bit.

No Contest in Chicago. Last Wednesday in Rosemont, Ill., the Tigers shot themselves into the record book against second-ranked DePaul. Their 39 point output tied a record for the lowest number of

Ed Lee Ends Hockey Career Here; Hopes to Play in NHL after June

Ed Lee's days of playing hockey for Princeton came to an abrupt end last week, when the senior forward chose to leave the team and turn professional immediately, cutting short a season of mixed success. He was not only the team's leading scorer, but its leading combatant as well, and the latter ultimately brought about his departure.

Unlike its professional counterpart, college hockey does not condone fighting. Automatic one-game suspensions are the rule for the first infraction, two games for the second, and the third time the player is banished for the season.

Lee incurred his first after a fight in the Colgate contest, and his second for precipitating the melee in the Boston University game January 7, when he chased a BU player all the way to the bench. That would have kept him out of the Brown and Yale games this past weekend, and coach Jim Higgins added an indefinite suspension of his own.

Rather than sit out several of the final games in his college hockey career, and possibly be provoked into another fight when he did return, Lee opted to end it at once, and spent the mid-winter break playing for the Fredrickton Express in the American Hockey league, a minor league team owned by the Quebec Nordiques. Lee hopes to eventually play for the Nordiques in the NHL.

The Tigers will miss Lee's scoring punch much more than his fighting. He led the squad in scoring with 20 points, 10 goals and 10 assists, a figure that had placed him third in the Ivy League and fifth in the ECAC Division I. In three and a half years of play, he had amassed 106 points, (42 goals and 64 assists) good for fourth place on the all-time Princeton scoring list.

His assist total was just one shy of tying the mark set by John Cook 20 years ago. Lee also had a good shot at surpassing Cook's record of 132 points in a career. Cook compiled his totals in just three years of varsity play, before freshmen became eligible.

Lee's departure leaves the young team, composed mainly of freshmen and sophomores with just one senior, goalie Wally McDonough, and three juniors, Steve MacDonald, Tom Daccord and Roh Scheuer. And both MacDonald and Scheuer are injured at the moment.

points scored in the Rosemont Horizon, set last year by Davidson.

The game was predictable from start to finish. Playing their usual patient game, but not making the baskets when they did shoot, the Tigers fell quickly behind and never caught up. The Blue Demons, who rolled to their 15th consecutive win without a loss, hit their first three shots, and never had to worry about Princeton's slowdown tactics. The home team used its considerable height advantage to control both boards, and gradually extended its lead to 25-15 at the half. That grew to 34-19 early in the second half, but Carril was content to have his players continue their zone defense and deliberate passing game.

The game rolled along quietly to its inevitable conclusion, with the Tigers staging a minimally to close the gap to 11 at the end. Unlike Houston, which blew the Orange and Black away in the final minutes, DePaul felt it nothing to prove.

The Tigers looked a bit rusty after their 15-day exam break, but certainly no worse than they did against Harvard and Dartmouth. They made 18 of 40 shots from the field and ing off Yale for the second time. Two late third-period tallies by the Elis sent Princeton down to a 4-3 defeat.

They may only have a 3-11-1 mark so far, but these last two games are strong proof that this freshman-sophomore team has not resigned itself to merely playing out the schedule. The spirit is still there, and at least a few more victories should come the Tigers' way.

After a Tuesday evening game scheduled to be played against Williams in Baker Rink, coach Jim Higgins' skaters will head back to New England this weekend for back-to-back games against Vermont and RPI. The two teams are at opposite ends of the ECAC's Western League.

Saturday night's opponent, the Engineers, with a 12-2 Division I mark (21-3 overall), are comfortably on top, and virtually assured of capturing one of the eight post-season playoff spots. The Tigers won a 9-4 shoot-out in their last visit to Troy, N.Y. two years ago, but lost in another wide-open contest here last season, 11-7.

Princeton will have a better chance of beating Vermont on Friday. The Catamounts have won only three of 12 Division I contests, losing a pair to RPI three of four from the line, and had 10 fewer rebounds (31-21) than DePaul.

Smyth led his teammates with 12 points, Levy had nine and Mullin, six. Ryan was moved to a forward slot to fill in for Aaron Belz, sidelined with stress fractures in his feet, and Scott started in the backcourt. Returning to his hometown, Carter picked up four fouls in the first half, and then settled down and earned four baskets in the second.

HOCKEY TEAM SPLITS

Beats Brown, Loses to Yale.

The young Princeton hockey team may not have many victories in hand by season's end, but the events this winter will have instilled plenty of character.

Saddled with an eight-game losing streak (the last victory had come Dec. 10), the team took off for a two-day road trip last weekend without its leading scorer, Ed Lee (see box). Nonetheless, the Tigers managed to defeat a much-improved Brown squad for the second time this season, 4-3, on Friday night.

Along with the victory, however, came another blow, the loss of junior center Steve MacDonald for the rest of the season with a torn ligament in his knee. Moving on to New Haven Saturday night, the Orange and Black came within half a period of knock-

TEST DRIVE A VOLVO THAT FLIES IN THE FACE OF TRADITION.

Traditionally, Volvo has built solid, dependable, long-lasting cars. But our DLs and GLs have never been mistaken for S&Fs on the road. Now there's a Volvo that blows away that image. The Volvo Turbo. To be sure, the Turbo provides all the comfort and luxury you'd expect

But what makes it so special is its power to hustle you from 0-55 in just 8.9 seconds!

Think how comforting that can be when you want to enter a highway or pass an 18-wheeler.

in a home-and-home series last weekend. Vermont has won the last two games between the two, and leads in the series, 5-2.

The team will have little time to catch its breath from that trip before it will face St. Lawrence Monday, Feb. 6 in Baker Rink. The Saints already own one victory over the Orange and Black this season, winning the consolation game of the Syracuse Tournament, 6-3, late in December.

Ladda the Difference. A pair of goals by Todd Ladda proved the difference in the Brown victory. The sophomore forward scored the winning goal with 2:21 left in the game to lift the Tigers to their 11th consecutive win over the Bruins in the last five years.

Sophomore defenseman Cliff Abrecht scored twice for Princeton in the opening period, which ended in a 2-2 tie. The home team took a 3-2 lead in the second, but Ladda tied the score 14 seconds later on a 15-foot slap shot, setting the stage for his winning tally.

Abrecht tallied in the first period of the Yale game to give the Orange and Black a brief 1-0 advantage. The Bulldogs tied it at one apiece a minute later, but Tim Cole scored with less than a minute remaining in the period to send Princeton ahead, 2-1.

Yale's Bob Logan scored the only goal of the second period with the Eli's skating five on four. Bill Brady put Princeton back in front for the last time early in the third, but goals at 13:52 and 17:36 provided the home team's margin of victory. Logan notched the game-winner.

Wally McDonough had a superb game, making 44 saves, as the Tigers were out-shot by a margin of better than two to one.

PDS SPLITS A PAIR

In Basketball. The Princeton Day basketball team had little trouble knocking off Pennington last week, but came up three points short against Peddie.

In the 72-58 triumph over Pennington, Frank Little led PDS with 16, Tim Howard had 15, and Jamie Zahner, 11. PDS took a 22-12 lead in the first period, and expanded that to 40-22 by halftime.

However, on Friday, it was nip and tuck all the way with Peddie finally winning, 64-61. Jon McConaughy was high for PDS with 16, Zahner added 14. PDS will play three games away over the next week: Morristown-Beard on Wednesday, Hun on Monday, and Rutgers Prep, next Wednesday.

PHS FIVE FALTERS

Unlike the previous seven years, Princeton High will not be a participant this year in the annual post-season state basketball tournament.

Needing to win three of four to qualify, the Little Tigers fell quickly to the wayside when they lost three straight last week, failing to hold early leads against Peddie Saturday and Ewing the day before and committing 35 turnovers in a 49-44 loss to Steinert earlier.

"The state tournament? We never were a threat," said Trotman. What pained the veteran PHS coach even more than the losses was what he felt was a poor attitude among the players. "Sometimes," he said, "I'm embarrassed the way we play."

Trotman described Princeton's 67-71 loss to visiting

Peddie Saturday as a "lackluster effort. We didn't play up to our potential. I really believe the attitude of our kids is they don't really care. We just don't have a positive attitude."

"I like to think that's not going to be the case the rest of the year," continued Trotman. "It's hard to assess. We've got the other half of the CVC to play but if they continue with the attitude as I see it right now, we're not going anywhere."

After a scheduled game against Hamilton this week, PHS will play Lawrence in a CVC game at Lawrence on Friday night, the same team it defeated in its season's opener in December. The Little Tigers will then be idle for a week before resuming at home next Friday evening against Nottingham.

Princeton began its must win situation last week by losing to Steinert. The 35 turnovers that PHS was guilty of were not as much a factor as the foul line. The home team Spartans connected on 23 of 35 charity tosses while PHS was only 10 of 17. Trotman railed at the referees for calling 26 fouls against his quick club which used a man-to-man, foul-prone defense to get back in the game. The Little Tigers overcame a nine-point deficit, tied the game at 36 early in the final period and took a brief 44-43 lead.

But they couldn't stop the Spartan parade to the foul line. Both high scoring Darryl Hemingway, who had 15 points, and Freddie Young (6) fouled out of the game for PHS. Keith Green had 12 for PHS while Dave Tartaglia had 22 for Steinert. Ken Durfee was six-for-six for the Spartans from the foul line.

Ewing Trails by 10. Friday night, heavily favored Ewing invaded the Princeton gym and was stunned to find itself trailing by ten points at the half.

PHS shut down Ewing's high scoring Tom Berry in the first half with a good zone defense. Berry took some shots he shouldn't have out of frustration but that ended when Ewing made some adjustments at halftime. Berry broke loose to score 13 of his game-high 29 points in the third period when Ewing outscored the Little Tigers to charge back into the lead. In the final eight minutes of play, Ewing shut PHS down, limiting the Little Tigers to four points to make it a 68-48 final. Princeton's 12 points in the second half were eight fewer than it scored in the first period.

"We had 'em by ten but we ran out of gas. We couldn't hold it," said Trotman. Young with 20 points -- the first time he has reached the 20-point level this season -- and Green with 16 were the leading scorers for PHS.

Peddie Prevails. When PHS played Peddie Saturday afternoon, both teams had played the night before.

Twelve points by Green, eight by Jon Davidson and seven by Young helped PHS take a narrow 34-32 lead at the half. Monty Gallant, the PG from South Brunswick, kept the Falcons in contention with 17 points, 13 in the second quarter.

The two teams battled on even terms throughout the second half. The score was tied five times, the last at 51 with 5:15 to play. Trotman called time out with 28 seconds left after an underhand layup by Young brought PHS to within one, 62-61.

When play resumed, Scott Fisher fouled Peddie's Steve Sargent who hit both ends of the crucial 1-1. After Jon Lysaker missed a shot in front of the hoop, Keith White rebounded, was fouled and connected on his first shot to give Peddie a 65-61 lead. His second shot hit the rim. Gallant grabbed the rebound and stuffed it to seal the win. Six of Peddie's eight final points had come from the foul line.

Green and Young each finished with 17 points while Davidson and Lysaker added eight apiece. Gallant led all scorers with 29, getting an assist from teammate Rich Rebh who had 15.

"I felt our play was good in the second half," said Peddie coach Al Lozier, whose team had lost to PHS, 62-60, on a buzzer shot by Green in the opening game for both schools last year. "I feel we had poor concentration in the first half," continued Lozier. "We were kind of lethargic."

"When Marv went to man-to-man he did us a favor. It woke us up. When we executed we were fine; we didn't do it all the time."

Trotman for his part could not refrain from trying to analyze his team.

"Athletics takes dedication and hard work," he said. "There are no short cuts. Our kids are not at that point. We make mistakes and continue to make the same mistakes. We're just not getting the job done. We don't have the maturity."

PHS MAT MYSTERY: WHO GOT PINNED? In top photo Princeton High 100-pounder Paul Crystal has Jim Valenti on his back for the second time in the first period in running up a 10-2 advantage. Twenty seconds into the second period, Valenti pinned the Little Tiger freshman. At bottom, PHS heavyweight Tamer El-Shakhs is almost pinned in the opening seconds of his match with John Ruedemann as referee Steve Povalac looks on. Thirty seconds into the second period, Shakh's pinned Ruedemann to raise his record to 8-2 - best on the PHS team. PHS lost the match, 46-15.

"Maybe I expected too much," continued Trotman. "Against Ewing in the first half the way we played - I couldn't even imagine that this team (Peddie) would be in the same ballgame with us. Gallant is the only decent player they have. When we play against a team like this we play up to their intensity level. Last night we came out smoking; this time we came out lackadaisical."

"I'm convinced of one thing at this point. We don't have the intensity to play man-to-man. It requires a certain amount of hustle and determination as a team. A few kids do but we don't as a team."

PHS STILL STRUGGLING On Wrestling Mat. "Again, we didn't want to win as much as the other guys," commented Princeton High wrestling coach Lee Merrill Saturday, after he watched visiting South Brunswick bury his team, 46-15. Hamilton High did the same thing earlier in the week, when it posted a 55-12 victory over the Little Tigers.

PHS will have two chances to try to improve its 1-9 record when it travels to West Windsor this Wednesday night at 8 and entertains Nottingham Friday at 8. The Little Tigers' best chance will be against Nottingham which is competing for only the second year in all varsity sports.

The following weekend at Steiner High, PHS will compete in the annual Mercer County Tournament.

Princeton led only once in its match against visiting South Brunswick. Freshman Jeff Robinson scored an escape and takedown in the second period to take a 3-2 lead over Doug Wickman and then added a near fall and another near fall with 10 seconds left in the match for a 7-3 decision. That gave PHS a 9-6 lead after the Vikings had forfeited the 107-pound class and Princeton suffered a pin in the opening match. Paul Crystal had swarmed over his opponent, Jim Valenti, in building a 10-2 first-period lead in the opening match. Twice he had Valenti on his back. But early in the second period, Valenti caught Crystal and pinned him.

To have a chance, PHS had to win some matches in the middle until its two best wrestlers, 187-pound Brett van deBovenkamp and heavy-weight Tamer El-Shakhs, both with 7-2 records, came up.

It was not to be. Josh Bagley, gamely fought off a couple of pinning holds but dropped a superior, 13-0 decision to Ed Edwards at 121 pounds; Gabby Ondetti was blanked 8-0 at 128 pounds; and Evan Cohn was decisively, 9-1, by Jamie McGuigan. PHS forfeited at 140 pounds.

After John Blankstein was pinned by Viking 147-pounder Steve Crane in 3:02, and Matt Taylor followed with a 3:30 pin over Princeton's Dominic Tracey, the visitors had a commanding 37-9 lead.

Matt Cohen then battled the Viking's Dave Cernesi, taking a 3-2 lead on a reversal in the first period, then a 5-4 lead. Cernesi gained a near fall at the end of the second period and went on to win their 169-pound bout, 8-5.

The day's most exciting match followed when Van deBovenkamp came out fast and quickly had Nick Kydonius, South Brunswick's 187-pounder, in a near fall. Ahead 5-1, Van deBovenkamp soon was in a pinning hold by Kydonius but managed a reverse to take a 7-3 lead. The tiring Van deBovenkamp was ahead 7-6 when Kydonius pinned him 39 seconds after the third period had started.

"Brett just pooped out," said Merrill after the match. "You could hear him breathing heavy," added Merrill, who reported Van deBovenkamp had entered the match with a heavy chest cold.

El-Shakhs appeared to be in for an easy win against his smaller opponent, but he was in for a surprise. No sooner had the match started than John Ruedemann of the Vikings had El-Shakhs flat on his back and squirming for his life. El-Shakhs managed to squirm free and came back to record a pin at 2:30. "Tamer got lucky," said Merrill.

Ondetti Lone Winner. Earlier, against streaking Hamilton, Gabby Ondetti was the only winner for PHS on the mat, pinning Don Ricketti of the Hornets in 3:21 in the 128-pound match. Van deBovenkamp won by forfeit.

In the remaining ten bouts, Hamilton won seven by falls and two by forfeit. PHS sophomore Marco Cucchi lost a 10-2 decision at 108 pounds.

MAT TOURNAMENT SATURDAY At Hun School. The third annual Hun School Wrestling Tournament will be held Saturday at Hun when seven teams will begin action at 10 a.m.

In addition to host Hun, schools participating include Newark Academy, Wardlaw-Hartridge, Rutgers Prep, Pennington School, Chestnut Hill Academy and Moravian Academy. Hun coach Dave Faus reported that he is trying to get an eighth team - Malvern Prep, undefeated Newark Academy, which stopped Hun, 46-14, last week, is the defending tournament champion.

Hun will engage in two dual meet matches before the tourney. It will be at Pennington School this Wednesday afternoon and will host Lawrence Friday at 4:30.

"Pennington will be very competitive but I like to think we can beat them," predicted Faus. As for Hamilton, Faus observed that the Hornets are "on a hot streak. They're wrestling very well."

Against 4-0 Newark Academy, the best 210-1 Hun could do was win two bouts - both by falls - and tie one. Once-defeated Todd Lipani continued his impressive performance this season for Hun with a pin in his 157-pound match while Seth Wheaton also got a pin at 187 pounds. Rob Cohn battled his opponent to a draw.

"We really didn't wrestle all that badly," commented

Leschley, Sherin Win Title Two Princeton High School seniors, Jacob Leschley and Jon Sherin, were upset winners in a platform tennis tournament held last month. The pair won three matches, including victories over the number one and two seeded teams to capture the Boys 16-18 title in the Rumson-Sea Bright Junior Invitational. They beat the top-seeded team of Dwight DeBree and Bryan Roberts, 6-3, 7-5, in the finals.

Jacob is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jan Leschley, 106 Winfield Road; Jon is the son of Mrs. Pam Sherin, 137 Jefferson Road, and Edwin Sherin of New York City.

YOUNG LION: Sean Couch, who led the Hun School basketball team in scoring last year as a PG from John F. Kennedy High School in New York, is averaging 6.4 points per game for the Columbia University basketball team. The 5-11 freshman guard is also third in assists for the Lions.

Faus. He singled out his 132 pounder Steve Wolf who lost a hard-fought 4-0 decision to an opponent who was second last year in the prep school state championships. "I was really impressed," said Faus.

Despite giving up 18 points in the last three matches (12 by forfeit), Hun managed to post a 36-34 victory over Marie Katzenbach School for the Deaf earlier in the week. All of Hun's points for its second win of the season came off six pins by Pong Unakal at 100 pounds, Dan Zumbrun (107), Nick Wofsy (121), Rob Cohn (140), Steve Bohin (147) and Lipani (157).

HUN DEFEATS HAMILTON For 15-3 Court Record. Like an implacable grinder, the Hun School basketball team continues to chew up the opposition.

Combining a 20-9 first-period lead and a balanced scoring attack, Hun outlasted Hamilton, 67-62, Monday on its home court. Earlier in the week, Hun, the fourth-ranked team in the area, defeated Blair Academy and newcomer Abington Friends to raise its record to 15-3.

Three games are on tap for the Raiders this week, starting with another public high school, West Windsor, this Wednesday evening at 8 at home. On Thursday at 3:45, Hun will oppose Lawrenceville for the second time this season at Lawrenceville and on Monday it will host rival Princeton Day School - again for the second time. Starting time is 3:45.

Battle to the Wire. Hun's early lead against Hamilton evaporated in the second period when the Hornets outscored the Raiders, 27-19. With two minutes left to play, a long jumper by Hamilton's reserve player Anthony Nitti gave the eighth-ranked Hornets a 62-61 lead.

Hun regained the lead when 6-3 forward Ted Bransfield, the former Pennsbury High standout, grabbed the rebound of his missed layup and stuffed it in. Bransfield then came up with the decisive play when he grabbed a defensive rebound under the Hornet basket, fired a court-long pass back, as these four accounted for all but six of Hun's points.

McDonough, the PG from Christian Brothers Academy, led Hun with 24 points. Terry Dearden added 13, and Bransfield and Joe Macini 12 each, as these four accounted for all but six of Hun's points.

Todd Wilson and Michael made it easy for Hun by Dye paced Hamilton with 22 scoring less than 10 points in and 18 points respectively, each quarter, bowing 54-28. Roth fouled out with more Nine players scored for Hun, than two minutes to play and headed by John McDonough's their departure hurt the 10.

Earlier, Abington Friends, which told Hun coach and athletic director Bob Hendrickson it wanted to play Hun Blair Is Easy. Friday at Blairtown, Blair Academy

Intergenerational Program

When a client cannot pay the $3.50 per hour, YES makes up the difference. These subsidized visits are limited to two hours a week. When clients can pay the full $3.50 themselves, students may work an unlimited number of hours. For some students, it is a job and they would not do it without the money they need.

In addition to the pay, they receive five academic credits. They attend an orientation course given by Jocelyn Helm of the Senior Resource Center, they write up their visits, they discuss with Ron and others the various stereotypes of the elderly and, inevitably, they are going to have to learn to deal with the terminal illness and death of someone who has become a friend.

Relationships Grow. "At first I did it just to get the credit," one girl admits, "but it's not that way, any more. About half the time I do things like mop, wipe the table, open cans for her. But the rest of the time is just talking — or listening. She'll talk about things that are bothering her and I find I can pull her out of a depression. I think her daughter was jealous of me at first but then she realized I wasn't taking her mother over, but was actually helping."

In Mrs. Helm's training, students stuffed cotton in their ears and wore glasses with clear plastic wrapped over the lens — to see what it's like when the world doesn't come through clearly.

They pored through magazines looking for stereotypes about the elderly — ads for laxatives, homey "mom" types, how rare it was to have a picture of an elderly person on a bike.

YES students are told to be Professional, Dependable, Patient and Courteous.

Privacy of the elderly is "extremely important; do not use their real names." "Be sure to be on time: your visits are very important." "Be patient: they sometimes repeat themselves."

"This program has helped me with my own grandparents," one girl found. "I just hadn't been able to get through to my grandmother, to get her to talk. But now I find I can get her to say things she's never said before. I know how to listen better, I show her more respect, I guess, than I ever did before and maybe that's the reason."

Good Listeners. "Some kids can just sit and listen — this is a rare trait," Ron points out. "We have one girl who does nothing but read aloud and do some writing for her elderly friend. Another just sat and talked and found herself more and more in a companionship role."

Yes, there have been drop-outs. But not since Ron and Learning in the Community became part of the program.

In the beginning, there was only an ad in the "Tower," Princeton High's newspaper, inviting students to sign up. Response was weak.

Then Ron began asking teachers to recommend students and before long there were more students than elderly men and women to match them with. A YES person goes with students on their first visit. There is follow-up along the way, with calls to the elderly to make sure it's working out satisfactorily. If there is a problem, the elderly can call YES any time.

Now, Ron is thinking of another idea — having students interview the elderly, asking what it was like half a century ago.

Intergenerational Council. There is also a Council where students can share experiences, exchange information, talk about the difference between myths and realities as they apply to each generation and discuss growing old and dying. Anne Jacobs, a junior, is head of this PHS Intergenerational Council, and also did the calligraphy on the program poster.

The Council consists of a faculty advisor, a YES representative, students who work with the elderly and those who would like to.

"You need to screen students carefully to find patient, committed, dedicated students who are enthusiastic about working for, being with and learning from, the elderly," Ron explains. "And you need to find elderly who are willing to trust youth and to relinquish independence in order to gain companionship and helpful services which other age groups more readily welcome."

"Education can help dispel the myths peculiar to both groups — the young and the elderly."

to gain some experience against better competition, brought a fine 12-3 record to the Hun gym but left with its fourth defeat and a lesson in how to play the game. Hun won, 62-49. Bransfield and Dearden were the big guns for Hun, combining for 37 points, Bransfield hitting for 21. Hun led 30-19 at the half.

WALDREN GETS 26

But PHS Girls Lose Again. Paige Waldren scored a career-high 26 points on 13 baskets but it was not enough to prevent the Princeton High School girls basketball team from losing a CVC league game to Ewing Friday, 76-46.

Actually, the outcome was never in doubt as Ewing jumped to a 23-6 lead in the first period and then did not continue to press its advantage. With Monica Greenland's leg in a cast, perhaps keeping her out for the rest of the season, coach Joyce Jones admits the outlook for the Little Tigers this campaign is not bright. The loss to Ewing was their tenth against one victory.

Opposite Steinert, which had lost its first ten games in a row, PHS earlier in the week matched the visiting Spartans basket for basket for three periods. Down by one, the Little Tigers could not sustain it and went down, 46-38.

and play Princeton rival Stuart Country Day School Monday afternoon at Stuart.

NUGGETS ON TOP

In Dillon Basketball. After two weeks of action in the Dillon Basketball League, the Nuggets are on top with a 2-0 mark, followed by Blue Crew and Blue Demons, both 1-1, and Hawks, 0-2.

Last week, the Nuggets edged the Blue Crew, 30-26, as John Brunett and Roland Glover combined for all 30 of the victors' points. Jay Jackson led the losers with 18.

In a second game, Barry Phox with 17 points, and Anthony White with 12, sparked the Blue Demons to a 39-36 decision over the Hawks. Nimrod Maleweu added six for the Blue Demons. Shawn Miller paced the Hawks with 14 points, while Matt Elliot contributed nine, and Bernard Simpson, eight.

In a lone senior division contest, The Fellas defeated the Kunkquais, 59-40.

Tim Rumer connected for 18 points, David Gross for 14 and Brian Treistad for 12 for the victors as these three also enabled the taller Fellas squad to dominate the boards. Pat McKellar had a game-high 20 points for the losers, while teammate Mokey Thomas added 10 more.

PHS will entertain Lawrence next at 3:45 Friday

PANTHERS WIN 4-0 Over Livingston In Hockey. The Princeton Day hockey team, has had its ups and downs this season, but last Friday's game against Livingston was definitely an "up" contest.

Scoring twice in the first and third periods, the Panthers blanked the north Jersey school, 4-0, behind the fine goaltending of Brad Smith. The junior netminder stopped all 19 shots that came his way.

The Blue and White wasted no time getting on the scoreboard; Tom Foster and Mike Blaxill both tallied within the first three and a half minutes of play.

Princeton Day held that advantage into the third period, when it scored two more goals about a minute apart. Dave Supple, assisted by Blaxill, tallied at 6:09 of the final frame, followed by Cary Paik at 7:19. Wings Jack Cook and Chris McCabe both picked up two assists in the game.

PDS will face tougher opposition this week, meeting a pair of opponents who have already beaten it this winter. Hill will play at PDS this Wednesday, and on Saturday the Panthers will travel to Peddie.

FREE PROGRAMS In Basketball, Volleyball, The Princeton Recreation Department invites everyone to take advantage of its free programs held in the John Witherspoon School. Men interested in basketball may play on Monday and Thursday nights from 7:15 to 10. Monday evenings are for the recreational player while Tuesday evenings are reserved for the more competitive player.

Tuesday evenings from 7:30 to 9:30 are reserved for women's basketball, an informal program led by Bob Smyth. Coed Volleyball is played on Wednesday nights from 7 to 9. For addition information, call 921-9480.

LOGO CONTEST HELD

By Recreation Department. The Princeton Recreation Department was established in 1964 to provide leisure time opportunities to people of all ages in the Princeton Community. To celebrate its 20 years of service, the Recreation Department is sponsoring a "Princeton Recreation Department Logo Contest."

High school students who live in the Township or Borough may enter. The winning logo will be introduced to the community in April as the cover of the 1984 leisure guide.

Entries should be submitted with name, address, phone number and school to the Princeton Recreation Department, Township Hall Annex by Friday.
